

U. S. Planes Strike Hydroelectric Plant In North Viet Nam

Heavy Damage Reported After Third Raid at Same Target

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty-four U.S. planes pounded a hydroelectric plant and dam site in North Viet Nam today for the third successive day, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Job Corps Camp Back To Normalcy

Some Students Transferred, 37 Listed as 'AWOL'

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP) — By transferring and discharging students involved in a Friday riot, Job Corps officials hoped today to return Camp Breckinridge training to its normal schedule.

"We are getting the people involved," said Charles Preston, director for public relations. "It will be business as usual with classes and job training."

Thirteen students had left the training program Sunday, voluntarily or under orders, including seven against whom charges of public drunkenness were dropped when their dismissal was ordered. Six others were transferred to other centers.

Most of the 546 students at the camp at the time of the rioting that injured 13 persons, fled in fear during the weekend. Of these 483 had returned by Sunday night.

37 AWOL

Thirty-seven were absent without leave and seven took leave.

Job Corps officials were checking hotels in the area for AWOLs.

Preston said those who refused to return would be dropped from the Job Corps, a part of the federal antiperverity program aimed at providing job training for youths 16 to 21.

Of those who returned late, Preston said, "Normally any student who misses a bus (to return to camp) is in for a disciplinary hearing. But these circumstances are a little bit unusual."

Gemini Officials Confident Mission Will Last 8 Days

Athens Police Ready for Strict Action in Riots

Tsirimokos Says He Will Ban All Public Demonstration

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Eftas Tsirimokos is reported ready to crack down hard on any more demonstrations in Athens in support of fallen premier George Papandreu.

Sources said Tsirimokos four-day-old government was prepared to ban all public demonstrations in downtown Athens and order police to move in fast whenever large crowds gathered.

So far only street marches have been banned while gatherings in stadiums and theaters were permitted. But more than 150 persons were injured in a six-hour riot Friday night when some 15,000 demonstrators tried to march on Parliament following a pro-Papandreu rally in a downtown theater.

A police official said it was the worst outbreak of violence in the Greek capital since the 1947-49 civil war.

500 Injured

More than 500 persons have been injured and a leftist student has been killed in street disorders since 25-year-old King Constantine fired Papandreu July 15. They disagreed on who should control the armed forces.

Tsirimokos, who last week broke with Papandreu's Center Union party, was believed still a few votes short of the majority in Parliament he needs to survive. He goes before Parliament this week to ask for a vote of confidence.

While King Constantine spent the weekend with his family on the island of Corfu, Papandreu was putting his case before the people in the provinces.

The former premier called the royal palace "a workshop manufacturing fake governments" in a speech at Volos Saturday night.

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts, well rested after sound sleeping periods, swept into their third day in space today and prepared to chase a phantom satellite across the skies.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. were to begin pursuing the imaginary satellite in a rehearsal for the Gemini 6 flight scheduled in October.

Flight controllers were confident the mission would go the full eight days ending with a splashdown Sunday in the Atlantic. Successful completion would eclipse the Soviet endurance record of five days.

Day-to-Day

Because of a spacecraft power problem which caused concern early in the flight, controllers are committing the pilots to continuing only on a day-to-day basis. The trouble with a balky fuel cell oxygen supply was improving steadily.

Mrs. Conrad was in the control center today during a Gemini 5 pass overhead. Astronaut James A. McDivitt, the capsule communicator, acted as a go-between in a brief exchange between husband and wife, who was in a glass-enclosed viewing room.

Here's how it went:

McDivitt: "Why not make a few comments for the better sex. Jane is here."

Conrad: "Hello there, how're all the boys doing?"

McDivitt: "She says 'fine'."

Both astronauts were reported in fine spirits after logging 10 hours sleep in the second day. Medical experts had been concerned because each had catnapped only about two hours on the first day.

Different Path

For the phantom satellite exercise, the astronauts were to assume that an Agena satellite was orbiting about 477 miles ahead of them on a difficult orbital path.

Over a period of 2 1/2 hours, Cooper and Conrad were to conduct four maneuvers, using jet thrusters, to close to within 15 miles of the imaginary satellite. This would simulate the Gemini 6 rendezvous and docking experiment up to the terminal phase. At that point in Gemini 6, the astronauts will require visual aids from flashing lights and a radar beacon on the Agena target.

Cooper and Conrad had hoped to make a rendezvous to within 20 feet of a stellite they ejected from the Gemini 5 spacecraft on

Auto Workers Strike at AMC

Kenosha Local, Largest Employer Fail in Try at Talks

KENOSHA (AP)—Local 72 of the United Auto Workers went on strike against the American Motors Corp., Wisconsin's largest employer, today after all-day and all-night negotiations failed to settle their differences.

The local had set a 10 a.m. strike deadline. The talks ended at 9 a.m. and workers began leaving their jobs at the deadline.

Edward L. Cushman, Detroit, vice president of AMC, issued a statement saying: "The UAW has struck American Motors as of 10 a.m. today, despite the company's repeated urging throughout negotiations, including an all-night meeting Sunday that the union extend its strike deadline to permit adequate time to resolve the issues without work interruption."

Lay Offs Expected
The company has 11,500 workers at its two plants and about 5,500 at Milwaukee who are expected to be laid off.

The local issued a statement saying that despite an all-night

India Might Cross Cease-Fire Line to Hit Pakistan Positions

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan made clear that the Indian government has not ruled out further attacks across the Kashmir cease-fire line against Pakistani positions.

Chavan told Parliament if the government feels it necessary to carry its war against the guerrillas in Kashmir across the line, "I have no doubt that we will do that."

Communist members criticized the United Nations observers who have been in Kashmir since India and Pakistan fought a war over the state in 1948.

Chavan replied the U.N. observers are trying their best, but are "largely ineffective" in preventing attacks by Pakistani infiltrators and regular army units.

Humphrey Lectures College Students

'Right to be Heard Doesn't Include Being Taken Seriously'

MADISON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told college students here today that "the right to be heard does not include the right to be taken seriously. The latter depends entirely upon what is being said."

Taking note of recent student protest demonstrations, Humphrey said in a prepared speech for the annual convention of the National Student Association at the University of Wisconsin:

"I've heard critics say that dissent in America has been silenced, when, in fact, it is simply preventing attacks by Pakistani infiltrators and regular army units."

The vice president saluted

"those students who not only dissent, but who by the logic and substance of their argument have compelled the citizens of America to pay attention to their views — to take them seriously."

But he added:

"I am also here to say frankly and critically that the behavior of some young Americans in recent months is not deserving of such attention."

Humphrey said student protests against racial discrimination have "indeed been worth taking seriously."

"The tactics of freedom rides, sit-ins, and picket lines have been crucial factors in tearing down the barriers of legalized discrimination in America," he said.

Criticizing the Los Angeles riots as "brutal, uncontrolled destructive hooliganism and rioting" which "no public official can condone," Humphrey warned that "we must also be able to differentiate between

Early in Flight for Fatigue

Astronauts' Lack of Sleep Worries Medics

By JOHN BARBOUR
MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — You can hear it in their voices beamed down from more than 200 miles in space: They are tired, and they need sleep. Now at last they are getting it.

For their first 30 hours in space, they napped only briefly, perhaps compiling four hours of sleep between them. Lack of sleep had the doctors concerned.

"We don't like to see them so fatigued at so early a point in the flight," the flight surgeon said.

From the ground came comments like this: "Gemini 5, Houston surgeon is a little concerned about your lack of sleep. We'd like a status report on each of you at this time concerning your fatigue level."

"Catnapping"
From the spacecraft came the tired voice of pilot Charles Conrad Jr.: "We just been catnapping about 40 minutes on and 40 minutes off."

Sleep, the ground insisted, "I try to," Conrad replied, "but you guys keep giving us something to do."

Command pilot L. Gordon Cooper Jr. talked, too, about the business of keeping up with the experiments, and the lack of sleep. His slow Oklahoma drawl got slower.

Pilot Conrad's voice seemed affected too — a ground report said he sounded hoarse.

Both men are heavy sleepers when they sleep. When astronaut coordinator Donald K. Slayton awoke them on the morning of blast off, he had to shake them to bring them to consciousness.

Cooper set something of a record on his 34-hour space flight May 15-16, 1963. He took some 13 naps — some of them too brief to record. The longest was about an hour. Each time he would awake refreshed and happy — and then 30 to 45 minutes later, he would nod and doze off.

Sometimes only the sleeping pattern of his heart rate and breathing would tell doctors on the ground that Gordon had slipped off again.

This flight was different. There was crisis early — and both astronauts were concerned with the ability of the fuel cell system to provide power for the long flight. Would they have to re-enter after just six orbits? Would they have only a day in space?

They were both so concerned that every time there was a report on their power system, both would fight sleep off to be around to hear it.

flight surgeon Dr. Charles Berry said.

Air of Cautious Optimism Concerning Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The thin tide of optimism rising in the Johnson administration Americans back. With World War II in Europe on the door-

Obvious Reason
The optimism in the highest levels of the government is restrained for several reasons, among them:

2. History holds up a cautionary finger about optimism. In base at Chu Lai, U.S. officials Korea, optimism was running as high as American forces drove northward almost to the Yalu

The daily bombing attacks on North Viet Nam targets are producing effects on the North Vietnamese civilian economy, it is contended in many administration quarters.

The expected scale of Viet Cong attacks under cover of the monsoon rains has fallen short of original predictions by U.S. strategists, in part because U.S. and South Vietnamese ground and air forces have been able to battle more aggressively than was expected.

Manpower
There is some evidence the Viet Cong Communist guerrilla forces are having their own manpower troubles. Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said in a speech last week that "war and time have taken their toll and Hanoi's reserve of southern manpower, like its arsenal of captured weapons, has begun to run out."

On the other hand, the South Vietnamese army is finding that its reserve of manpower is growing low.

All of these factors and others probably have resulted in top administration officials deciding that the gloom is lightening a little.

There are other obscure tactical and strategic bits put into the picture.

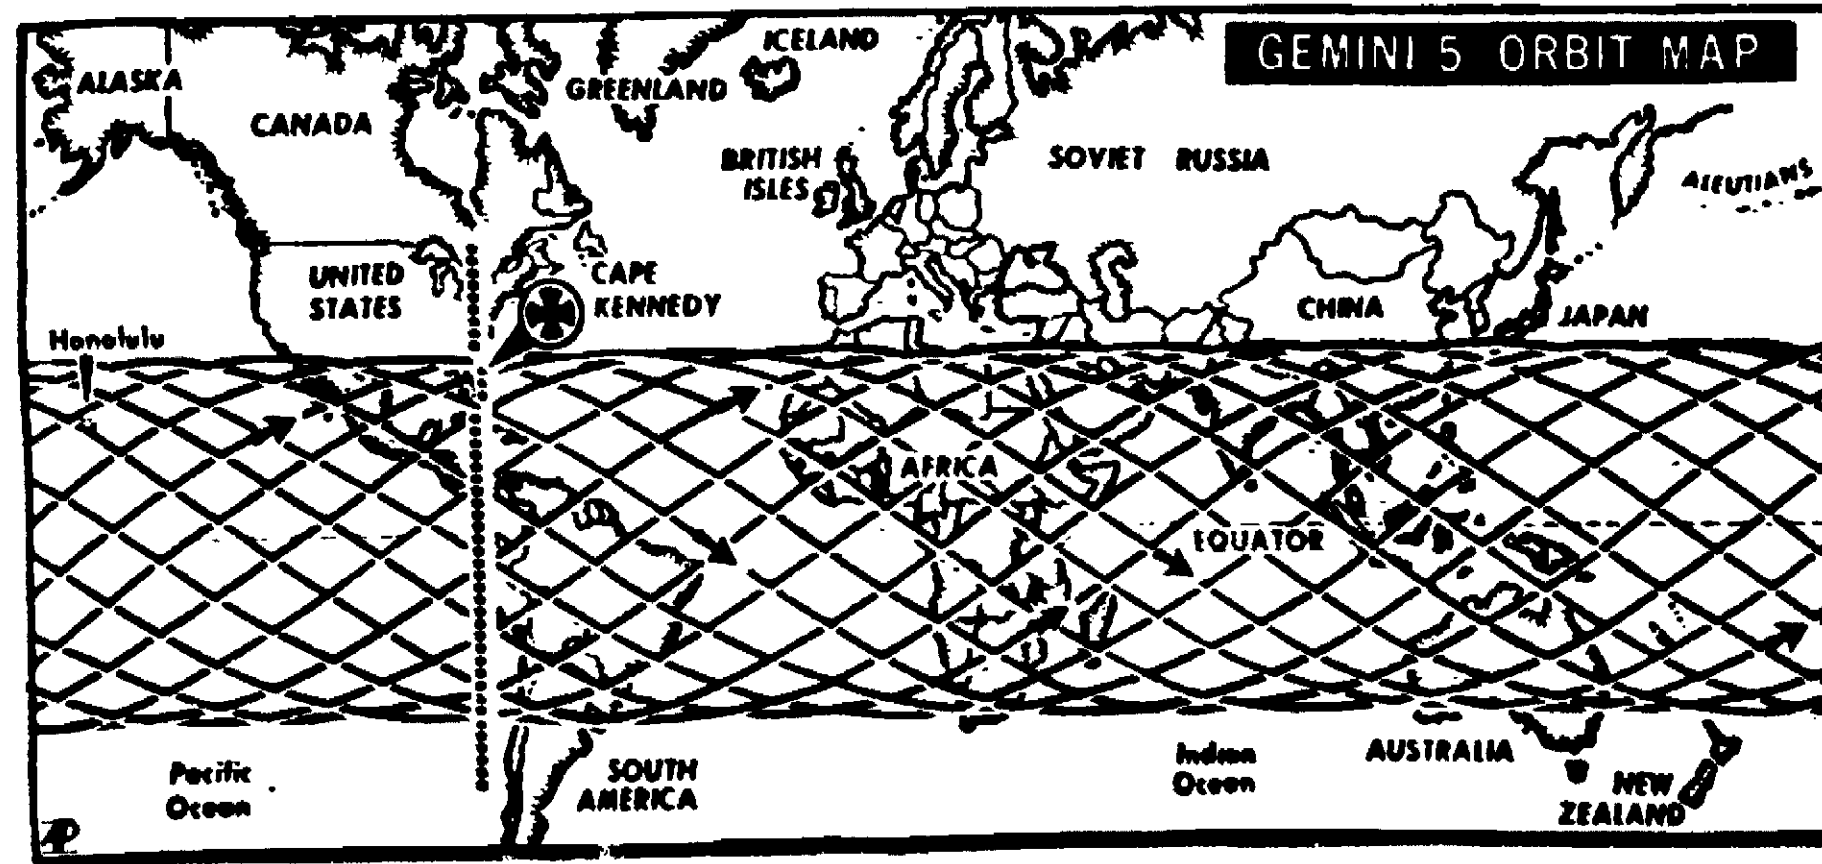

There is no evidence that the Viet Cong have been able to replenish heavily and build up their stocks of supplies which had come in from the north.

The Viet Cong guerrilla army's organization has been

Censorship Attitude Undergoes Change

Career of Actress Elizabeth Taylor Indicates How Movies Have Changed

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The career of Elizabeth Taylor provides a notable example of how attitudes toward sex in films have been revolutionized. Twenty years ago at MGM she was playing a fresh-faced ingenue whose greatest concern was whether she would get a date for the prom. Today in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" she portrays a forthright housewife who taunts her professor husband (Richard Burton) by bedding down with his university associates. The most publicized star of the 1960s, Elizabeth Taylor, 33, represents the American films' newfound freedom in dealing with sex. In her most recent films — excluding "Cleopatra," which is the way she would like it — she has portrayed the mother of a love-child ("The Sandpiper"), an adulteress ("The V.I.P.'s"), and a call girl ("Butterfield 8"). The latter performance drew her Hollywood's ultimate honor, the Academy Award.

Called Reality Hollywood's sex revolution has been hailed by some critics as an overdue admission of reality. It has also been denounced by many as a danger to the American family and a long step down the road to decadence. The man caught in the crossfire is Geoffrey Shurlock, 71, Liverpool-born administrator of the industry's production code. He denies charges that movies are corrupting American morals.

"Eighty per cent of the changes in the moral aspects of films are due to changes in the country's morals," he argued. "The movies are not about to set patterns for behavior. We merely reflect what's going on in the country. And attitudes toward such matters as sex have greatly changed since the war."

"The major change in films during recent years has been the treatment of sex, and I think it is a healthy one. Film makers are no longer treating sex as something terrifying and sinful but as a subject for fun and satire. The code used to say that seduction could not be a subject for comedy. But then the Doris Day-Rock Hudson comedies proved that seduction — though she never was seduced — could be funny and inoffensive."

In "Good Taste" Then "Tom Jones" came along to set the pattern. When I read the script, I didn't see how we could ever pass it. But the film was done with such style and taste that we couldn't reject it.

Shurlock illustrated how the code follows public acceptance in matters of costume.

For years we banned bikinis from the screen. But they became so prevalent on the beach...

CBS Reports' Viet Nam IV Seeks Peace

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea sinks deeper into its no-man's land of science fiction with "The Condemned." Just when you think the episode hinges on whether or not a power-hungry admiral is going to get his comeuppance, up pops one of those "creatures" from the bumpy deep (R).

Linda 'Snips' a New Personality

BY JACKIE KRUG
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fourteen years is a long time. If you were to measure it in hair, it would reach all the way down your back and touch the chair when you sat down.

Linda Hooyman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hooyman, route 4, Appleton, has had one haircut in all her 14 years. Last Wednesday the day marked quite a change for Linda. Not only did she lose a good many inches of naturally curly hair, she also lost her "little girl" pony tail and moved squarely into the ranks of the teen-ager.

All the doings were put off for some time by Mrs.

Hooyman who requested Linda to postpone the trimming until after her graduation from eighth grade at St. Nicholas School, Freedom.

Linda will begin ninth grade at a new school with a new look and a new personality. No more school uniforms. A complete new wardrobe will accompany her different "do."

Replacing the hip-length waves is a bouffant flip just bouncing to get in on the rush of school day activities that ninth grade holds in store for Linda.

There will be a lot of things to get used to besides the different face in the mirror. For instance, rollers will replace the knot of hair at bed time. On the nice side, tedious hours spent washing and drying the brownette tresses are a thing of the past.

When a girl is growing up things come and go at a pretty fast clip.

Linda Has Time for a Moment of last-minute reflection, above, before the final step is taken.

Linda's Mother, Mrs. Stanley Hooyman, brushes her daughter's long hair for the last time, at left. Above, Linda models her new dress. She proudly displays her ponytail. Below, she smiles in anticipation of the school days ahead and wonders what everyone will say. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Little Girl things like pony tails and school uniforms are just memories now for 14-year-old Linda Hooyman, who had her first haircut Wednesday. Above, she displays what has been her usual "do". At right, Linda testifies that the first snip is the hardest. Mrs. Roger Dercks, operator of Bernice's Beauty Salon, Little Chute, begins the task of creating a new hair style.

Teen Pleads for Ann's Help With Hair-Splitting Problem

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 13-year-old boy who needs your help as bad as any grownup who ever wrote to you.

My aunt used to be a beauty operator (around the time of King Arthur, I think). Anyway, Aunt Myrtle moved next door to us last month and it has changed my whole life. Mom has decided she isn't going to send my kid brother and me to the barber anymore because it costs too much money.

Aunt Myrtle cuts her own kid's hair and Mom says her haircuts are good enough for anybody. So now Aunt Myrtle is cutting our hair, too, and it is just a crime what that woman can do with a pair of scissors. After yesterday's haircut a girl asked me when I was going to the electric chair.

Mom has a wild temper and doesn't take any mouth off us kids so please be on my side and put this letter in the paper. The advice will have to come from you, not me. Thanks for your help. — Miserable Michael

Dear Mike: No 13-year-old kid should be forced to walk around with a homemade haircut that embarrasses him. Tell your mom — excuse me, I'll tell her:

Give the boy a chance to earn some extra money by doing errands and chores around the house. Then he can buy his haircuts from a barber and things will be a lot quieter around your place.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter Emily is 23 years old and employed in a large office. She lives at home and we know she is a pure, God-fearing young woman.

A divorced girl works alongside Emily and from what we have heard, she is an evil person. This divorcee comes to work late and leaves early. She gets her supervisor to doctor up her time card and collects full pay for part time work. She makes it up to the supervisor by joining him for drinks after office hours.

This woman talks to the younger girls in the office about things they shouldn't even be able to understand.

Although Emily makes good money and has been employed at this place two years I feel she should change jobs. I'd rather have her employed among decent people and make less. What do you say? — Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned: Leave Emily alone. The world is filled with all sorts of people. If you've raised your daughter properly, you don't need to worry.

The next office might have two bad women and maybe even a bad man.

P. S. Mother, I can't imagine what it is that a 23-year-old "should not even be able to understand." The more she is able to understand, the better. The ones who don't understand get into trouble.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused by the letter from the friend who wanted to know why a "handsome, respected, successful man would leave a beautiful, talented, accomplished woman for a crude, cheap, ignorant tramp."

Your reply was the "perhaps the crude, cheap, ignorant tramp filled a need in the man that the beautiful, talented, accomplished woman did not."

Maybe the "handsome, respected, successful man" was also a smart fellow who knew the difference between "wholehearted acquiescence and dignified cooperation." — J. A. H. of Seattle

Dear Seattle: You win. Your answer is better.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

EVER-PRESENT MOTHER

Dear Louise: I am single and in my early thirties. From time to time, gentlemen friends will stop at the house. We have a recreation room where my father watches television every evening. When I have these callers, there is no where to seat them. My mother glues herself to her chair in the living room. I feel that she should leave and go upstairs gracefully. She feels I should take my male caller into the kitchen and serve coffee. Believe me, one isn't obliged to entertain friends in the kitchen. Is there a book that covers this situation on social manners?

Louise Davis Answers:

I agree that after the how-do-you-do amenities in the living room, your mother would be thoughtful of you and the gentlemen to unclue herself to join your father in the recreation room or busy herself with something in another part of the house. Surely you don't need chaperoning in the same room!

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Care of Teen Skin

Some teens squander the gift of a lovely skin, by giving it no thought or care. Other girls, in an attempt to correct problems, fuss, fume and try one cure after another. Neither tack assures complexion perfection.

Teen fashion models, whose skin must be near-flawless, follow this care program—and what works for them will work for you:

1. Be True To Thine Own Skin! Never use any product, from soap to powder base, unless it is formulated for your kind of skin—normal, oily, or seriously blemished. Only ask at your favorite cosmetic counter and you will find effective products for youthful skin and its every condition.

Keep It Clean

2. Keep It Clean! Hospital cleanliness is basic to good skin. Wash several times daily; more often if your skin is oily or disturbed. Work up a soapy lather with your hands and massage it in. Then rinse off all traces and pat dry. Before washing, float away any make-up with cosmetic cleanser.

3. Play It Cool! Avoid extremes of hot or cold water; warm and cool's the rule. Too, handle your skin with a feather touch: don't rub it to a nub.

4. Put It On A Diet! Check-rein your intake of sweets and fatty foods, but never skimp on external "feedings"—treatment lotions and potions.

5. Let Well Enough Alone! Never squeeze a blemish; treat it with a medicated emollient. With widespread blemishes, go at once to a doctor.

Needle Work

Q: I must have folded up my tarpaulin trailer cover when it was wet. Only a few days after, when I needed it again, I found that mildew had already formed. Is this removable?

A: Mildew this fresh can be scrubbed away with ordinary yellow soap and a stiff brush. A mild chlorine bleach solution will also work well. Rinse and air—well. Don't fold until thoroughly dry.

Q: When the weather is consistently warm, candles begin to droop in the candlesticks. Is there any way to prevent this?

A: Very often a coat of pure, fresh, white shellac will add enough stiffening to do the job. Many hostesses and restaurant owners know that keeping candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using will make them firmer, and they'll burn much longer, too.

Q: Crickets seem to be getting in somewhere. I kill an average of eight a day. I'm sure. I'd like to get rid of them before they begin ruining clothing and carpets, which I'm told they can do.

A: You heard right! Crickets can be extremely destructive if a large crowd becomes established. They'll devour carpeting, clothing, any woollens, books, upholstery, leather, you name it.

Blow pyrethrum powder with a powder puffer under furniture, throw rugs, boxes, behind cabinets and shelves. Repeat every two or three days, until you drive them all out.

Sheinwold Need Key Discard to Win Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You can show enthusiasm over four jacks at poker, but not at bridge. You're entitled to bid with just four jacks only if your partner has bid very strongly and can surely get the most out of the cards.

ing bid of two notrump. North decided to accept the invitation to game because South was a reliable bidder and a fine card player.

West opened the seven of hearts, and South held off until the third round of the suit, discarding a spade from dummy on the third heart. South saw that he would go down if he tried to develop either black suit since East would take a black king and four heart tricks.

South found the answer to his problem by cashing the three top diamonds and then leading a heart to throw East into the lead.

Saves Right Cards

East cashed his last heart, and declarer had no trouble saving the right five cards in the dummy: the pack of diamonds and a doubleton jack in each of the black suits.

The key play for South was his own discard on the fifth heart. If South threw a low spade or club, East would lead that suit, allowing South to win with the ace and queen. South would be stuck in his own hand, however, and would then have to give East a trick with the other black king.

South made the hand by discarding a black queen. No matter which suit East returned, South could get to dummy with the jack of that suit. Then he could cash the jack of diamonds and take a finesse to win the rest of the tricks.

Unredeemed Trading Stamps Total $1 Billion

BY SYLVIA PORTER
In the past 15 years, trading stamp companies in the U. S. have put aside about $1 billion of tax-free, interest-free money against 384 billion trading stamps which you and I have

"We suspect that some of this money should be going to the Treasury in the form of taxes but we simply don't know." When Wolff began his hearings in July, he mailed about 200 letters asking stamp companies to participate in the Washington discussions. More than 40 letters came back, for some of the stamp companies which have been formed in recent years can't even be found today. What happens to the consumers who saved the unredeemed stamps of these dead companies? How many millions of dollars have been lost?

"We don't know," says Wolff. "We think that huge numbers of housewives lost money because of the higher prices they paid in stores offering the now defunct trading stamps but we simply don't know."

Offset Cost
Trading stamps are now used in 65 per cent of all chain stores and supermarkets. The stamps will get underway soon. While the White House's chief adviser on consumer affairs, Mrs. Esther Peterson, is not formally participating in development of the stamps. Who, then, is paying for the stamps? And how much? "We don't know," says Wolff. "We feel sure that the stores are passing on the cost of the trading stamps in the form of higher prices but we simply don't know the hard facts." At a recent convention of the Madison Life Insurance Co. of New York in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., I talked at length and in private to Wolff about trading stamps. Because his July investigations produced far more perplexing questions than reassuring answers, he is turning over all his papers to a Consumers Affairs Subcommittee of the House Banking & Currency Committee, headed by Texas Democrat Wright Patman. It is probable that the first full-dress probe into trading stamps in almost a decade will get underway soon.

Never Redeemed
More than $50 million in sales each week are tied to stamps which never will be redeemed. Yet we have no clear picture of what happens to his money. Wolff doesn't even have precise statistics on how much business trading stamp companies do each year, since some of the giants are privately owned and do not report their figures to the public. Yet, one stamp company alone issues more than 100 million stamps annually than the U.S. Post Office. Stamps actually are aren't free and they aren't gifts, becoming a medium of exchange.

"I didn't get involved in this problem because I want to outlast trading stamps," Wolff buying part of a toaster. "They are a promotional device that is well-developed Congressional probe established and accepted by the American consumer. I merely it want to make sure that the

Economy Now Calls for More Accurate GNP

Improved Measure Shows U. S. Doing Better Than Thought

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The American economy has grown so big that about the only way to measure it in bigger figures is to stretch the yardstick. So the Department of Commerce has made its biggest measuring rod of all, the Gross National Product — GNP, more accurate.

The improved method of calculating the total of all goods and services produced — the GNP — shows that we're even better off than we thought, and have been for some time. This statistic is the most widely quoted of the multitude of government issues. It is used by businessmen when planning head, by the average citizen when sizing up which way the economy, and his own future, is heading. GNP marks the start and end of recessions, the beginning and heights of booms.

Quarterly Measure

The government takes this measurement of the economy four times a year by totting up the spending for the U.S. output by American consumers, business, government and foreigners. The result shows just how much in each quarter of the year was produced, consumed, built, or stockpiled.

The calculations are complicated. The collection of data is tedious and methodical and painstaking. What individuals consume is subdivided as to spending for durable goods such as autos and appliances, nondurables such as clothing and food, and services such as rent and medical care, transportation and beauty treatment.

Among the latest changes in government's upward revision was because it found the quality of housing much better now than it previously supposed.

To Your Good Health Potatoes Have Some Content of Calories

Dr. Molner: I enjoy potatoes, but some people say they have no food value, and some folks insist on having them mashed and swimming in butter, or fried, or drenched in gravy. This adds relatively enormous amounts of calories.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that an older person should not drink milk? They still need calcium, and the quality of housing much better now than it previously supposed.

There is no reason why older people should not drink milk. They still need calcium, and the quality of housing much better now than it previously supposed.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a young mother of three and have stretch marks all over my stomach. Is there any way to remove them?—Mrs. D. H.

No, but stretch marks don't do any harm except in looks. They are often an angry red or purple at first, but gradually the color fades out and the marks aren't nearly as noticeable.

Carbohydrate Content
Potato is 18.4 carbohydrate, 2.2 protein, .1 fat, one per cent ash, and the rest water.
For comparison, white bread is 1.180 calories to the pound: 53.1 per cent carbohydrate, 9.2 protein, 1.3 fat, 1.1 ash.
Pound for pound, bread provides more calories than steak, is higher in carbohydrate, lower in protein and fat.
So now let's get back to the potato. Its protein and carbohydrate values are moderate.
Being a vegetable, the potato, particularly the skin, contributes to the "trace elements" of which we need tiny amounts, and also contains some Vitamin C, although not in such profusion as in citrus juices.
Some people who are on reducing diets apparently believe that the potato is an extremely fattening food—once extremely high in calories. That isn't so. It is a substantial food but not particularly fattening, unless you eat too much of

Air Pollution Test Begun By Appleton, State Officials

Health Commissioner to Plot Control Program During Meeting

Tests are being made over a 45-day period to determine whether Appleton residents are breathing polluted air. The disclosure was made today in the monthly report of Dr. James Laird, the city's health commissioner.

Air Program

When the board of health holds its regular meeting Wednesday morning at the city hall, Dr. Laird is expected to outline a proposed air pollution control program for Appleton.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), a board member, has been pushing for an air pollution ordinance for the city to eliminate the city's or control what he has termed "questionable conditions" in scattered sectors of the city.

Ayers has indicated that a chronic problem exists in his ward and believes a committee of city, industrial business and health leaders should make a study and then submit recommendations.

Samples Taken

Air samples are now being taken with a high velocity intake machine provided by the state board of health's district office at Green Bay.

The machine, working on the same theory as a vacuum cleaner, sucks air in through filters. The filter paper is sent to the board of health laboratory at Madison for analysis and a determination as to its density and content is made.

Dr. Laird said that prior to air testing, a meeting was held with Dr. William Lea of the state board of health to discuss action to be taken by the city and formulation of an air pollution control program.

Farsighted Leaders Praised by Byrnes At Port Dedication

5,000 Persons Attend Event At Outagamie County Facility

A long, long ribbon, perhaps the first to be cut by an airplane, was used Sunday to officially open Outagamie County's new $3 million airport in the Town of Greenville.

Rep. John Byrnes of Green Bay, told over 5,000 persons who toured the facility and witnessed the ceremonies, that current court controversies involving the airport and airport service are "but details" which will soon be overcome and that "the success of this field will be determined by the support you are prepared to give it."

Byrnes praised "farsighted county and city leaders" who guided Outagamie County "into the air age head on."

Express Appreciation

Byrnes' words followed speeches by county board officials and Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who expressed appreciation of public support which went into the construction of the facility. Mitchell said Appleton is proud to be associated with such a facility.

Byrnes, main speaker at the brief ceremony, praised the "adventuresome spirit" which is behind the inauguration of a private commercial air service (Air Wisconsin) which began operations at the airport today.

An aircraft owned by recently-formed Air Wisconsin, which will operate between the Fox Cities and Chicago, clipped the 75-foot long ribbon stretched across the runway in front of the hangars, and officially opened the field to commercial service.

Non-Taxable Construction Projects Reflected in Lower Increase From Past Year

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton's 1965 assessed valuation is a record $134,404,975.

The annual report on the city's tax base was released today by Assessor John Pierre.

It represents a healthy increase of $4,166,450 over last year's valuation but is not up to expectation.

In 1964 Appleton led the entire Fox Valley with $15 million in new construction projects. This year, building in the city is off the pace by more than $6 million.

However, construction has been showing heavy gains in the areas surrounding the city, especially in the Town of Grand Chute where a $2.3 million valuation increase was reflected this year.

Pierre noted that while Appleton was the pacemaker in new building a year ago, several projects represented tax exempt property which does not go on the tax roll as per state statute.

Non-Taxable

Falling into the non-taxable category were new schools, college buildings, churches, hospitals and institutions such as the YMCA and others.

The annual "open house" to give residents a chance to inspect the tax roll is now underway and will continue through Aug. 27 during regular office hours. The city assessor's office is located on the main floor of city hall.

Pierre said he sent out 2,131 cards and letters this year notifying property owners of assessment increases.

In 1964 Appleton's total valuation on personal and real estate property was $150,308,600, representing a gain of $5,195,025 over the previous year as the city rode the crest of an unparalleled building boom.

While there had been anticipation the city's valuation hike would be higher, Pierre hinted of better things to come.

He said there are an unusually high number of partially assessed properties on the rolls for the first time this year, including 265 in the residential category and seven mercantile.

There were no partially assessed new manufacturing plants.

It means that next year when the buildings now listed as partials are completed and assessed at the going percentage of full value (ranging from 48 to 52 per cent) more than $4 million will be added to the city's assessment valuation.

Going into 1966 there will be

Appleton Values For Past 15 Years

Using the present gross tax rate of $47.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation, this year's $41 million increase will bring in an estimated $195,000 in additional municipal revenue with no increase in the tax rate.

Appleton's assessed valuation totals since 1950:

Year	Valuation
1950	$154,404,975
1951	150,238,525
1952	145,113,575
1953	139,484,125
1954	132,089,325
1955	124,465,700
1956	115,654,925
1957	112,770,825
1958	107,333,550
1959	102,393,975
1960	96,018,275
1961	92,630,125
1962	87,195,525
1963	82,253,550
1964	77,756,675
1965	69,000,375

an estimated $4 million increase based solely on the leftovers from 1965. In addition, other building projects started this summer will go on the rolls in 1966 to add to the anticipated increase.

While assessment data is Turn to Page 3, Col. 1

Appleton Man Pays $150 for Reckless Driving

Melvin Strader, 50, E. Harrison St., today paid $150 and a main to the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center, driving, reduced from driving while under the influence of other service connections in the neighborhood that the Public Service Commission honored.

The PSC opposed the original bill proposed by the City of Appleton and ordered the city to provide service to other customers. The PSC stated that when a city water utility extends its mains into an outside area, for whatever purpose, it is "holding itself out" for general service and is not permitted to select the customers it wants to have.

Appleton city officials, who traveled to Madison Aug. 12, told Knowles the bill was essential to the continuation of orderly city planning.

'Bye, Bye, Birdie' Provides Smash Climax to Attic Theater's Summer

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

Despite the tenuous thread of a somewhat adult love story, the Attic's show is a vehicle for the spirit and exuberance of adolescence, and the fact the vehicle is more or less fueled with satire doesn't detract a whit from the show's obvious sympathy for the youngsters.

Kingpin Of Fun

The kingpin in all of the fun—an obvious take-off on Elvis—is Conrad Birdie, curiously brought to the stage bigger than life by Tom Callaway, who displays all of the poise and other appropriate equipment needed for a career as a screamers' idol.

Although Callaway is making his first foray onto the boards, he handles his wonderfully absurd role like a veteran.

However, neophytes acting like veterans is more the rule than the exception in this Attic outing.

"Birdie's" love interest is played with sensitivity as well as squeals by Lynda Reynolds, who possesses a beautiful contralto voice and a fund of presence.

At the other end of the age scale is Nancy Abraham, who turns in most hilarious, deadpan portrayal of a grasping, ever-suffering mother after the image of Philip Wylie's "Mom." Mrs. Abraham's timing and delivery can not be improved on, she is perfect.

Real Stars of Show

The real stars of the show are the company of exuberant youths, all 19 of them. However, Ginny Werner for her own deadpanning, Pam Moehring for her fine soprano, Bill Jones for his cracked voice, Larry Lundeen for his histrionics and Ricky Vander Velden for being the leading squealer deserve special mention.

There are adults—and veterans at that—in the show too. Two of the most prominent are Karen Krumm and Don Jones. Not only do they carry the "plot" of the show with a deceptively light touch, but they are responsible for the coordination of the show as well.

Miss Krumm, who demonstrates a great deal of her skill and grace as a dancer in a couple of the show's highpoints, is the show's choreographer and she has solved the recurring pitfall of community musicals by keeping her dancing assignments within the skill of her dancers, but she asks them to perform the jobs with class and spirit.

Unusually Fine Job

Jones of course is the show's Turn to Page 3, Col. 6

Insurance Age Cited in Talk Honoring Firm

Home Mutual Co. In Appleton Has 65th Anniversary

"We are living in the age of insurance," Dr. John S. Bickley told more than 300 persons attending the 65th anniversary celebration of Home Mutual Insurance Co. Sunday.

Bickley, professor of insurance at the University of Texas, was main speaker at the event, which honored founder Julius Bubolz.

"Over a million people are employed by the business," Bickley told the insurance men and their guests. "We aid the great credit system," he added.

The professor said that an estimated 14 per cent of the national income in 1965 will be spent on insurance.

Sophisticated Buyers

"Young people today are much more sophisticated about insurance and demand to know just what they are buying and what they will be getting," he said.

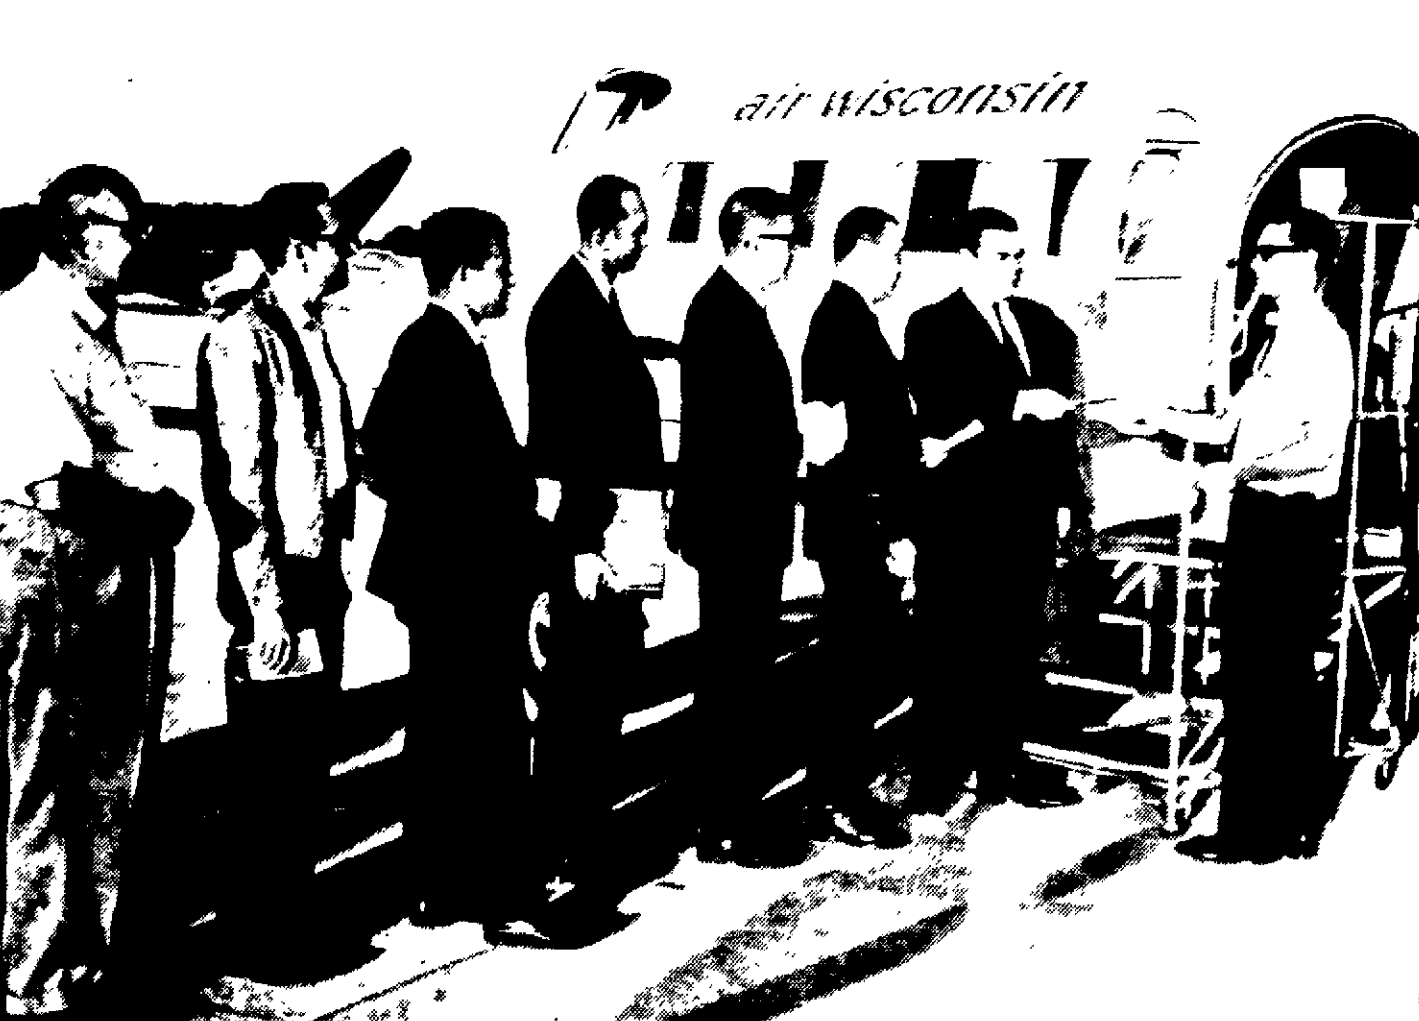

Prof. Bickley said he advises young people to buy insurance for real emergencies, the major losses. He said it is important to pick the right agent and the right company.

"Insurance has become a very competitive business," Bickley pointed out. Many companies are "being plagued by high losses, somewhat affected by the fact that people are becoming more 'claim conscious'."

Vocal Solos

Guests were welcomed to the event by company president Gordon A. Bubolz, son of the founder. Bubolz said "We must all live up to our heritage."

The Rev. W. E. Lange, Seymour, gave the invocation, and two vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Gordon Bubolz, Vice President Albin L. Bevers was master of ceremonies.

First Passengers to Use the services of Air Wisconsin today are shown being welcomed aboard at the new Outagamie County airport. From front to back are Peter Jackson, Armstrong Cork Co., Dale Sradent, Robert Michelson, both of the Aid Association for

Sentence Appleton Man to 180 Days in Outagamie County Jail

Robert L. Schneider, 21, 2020 W. Wisconsin Ave., today was sentenced to 180 days in the Outagamie County Jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving after revocation.

Schneider was arrested Sunday afternoon on U.S. 41 at County Trunk E in Town of Grand Chute.

He appeared today in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 before Judge Gustave Keller, who imposed the mandatory jail sentence.

Pound's Value Closely Tied To U.S. Dollar

Increased Imports To Britain Strain Worth of Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's struggle to bolster the pound sterling—one of the few remaining status symbols of the once proud British Empire—is more closely tied to the future of the American dollar than you might think.

For the dollar and the pound are still linked in world financial affairs. Trouble in London's Threadneedle Street can affect Wall Street—and Main Street.

The pound no longer has the importance it boasted back in the flourishing 1920s. Its collapse at the start of the 1930s set up a chain reaction of business woes throughout the world that contributed in large measure to the depths to which the American economy sank in the Great Depression.

Economy Important

If the pound isn't that important today, the state of the British economy and the health of the European Common Market are still matters of concern to U.S. business as well as to U.S. monetary authorities.

The American economy at the moment looks strong enough to take care of the many domestic problems and even the stepped-up Viet Nam War. But Britain, and parts of Western Europe, have been breeding some trouble spots that could cause business setbacks there—and in time here. And both Britain and the Common Market to blame the United States for some of their present and potential difficulties.

In this country there is debate over whether the economy is slowing down, or is about to. In most of Europe the rate of growth is definitely smaller this year than last, and well below the rate in the United States. This slowdown follows years of unusual growth in Western Europe, with the rate notably higher than in the United States.

Growth Slowed

Britain is especially hard hit now. In 1964 its economy expanded over the previous year by 5.7 per cent. This year the growth is estimated at 2.5 per cent or so by the First National City Bank of New York. It notes that whereas the United States was showing a striking increase in industrial production in the first quarter of 1965 over the final three months of 1964, in Britain the gain was a disappointing 1 per cent.

The British industrial lag has failed to meet the demands for

3 From Manawa Hurt in Crash

Three persons were injured today in a two-car accident at U.S. 41 and Spencer Road today.

Details of the accident were not available.

Goods of the almost wholly employed British population they have turned to imports to get what they want and have the money to buy.

And that's where the pound sterling is in trouble. The excess of imports over exports has put a strain on the pound. To pay for these imports, Britain finds other currencies are in demand, and the pound isn't.

Last fall the United States had to go to the aid of the pound. With other nations it furnished a fund the Bank of England could draw upon to defend the value of pound against speculators who were dumping their holdings because they thought the pound would have to be devalued.

Again the British government is seeking to curb imports, boost exports, and ward off speculators as the pound weakens. If Britain's efforts don't succeed, the United States may have to help again.

The pound's role as an international reserve currency, although shrinking, is still linked with the dollar's bigger role in world affairs. And France's preference for gold rather than either the dollar or the pound isn't helping any.

With its hands full in Viet Nam and at home, the United States doesn't relish prospects of increasing economic problems across the Atlantic.

Nursing Home Nearly Finished

Opening of $750,000 Appleton Operation Set for Mid-October

A privately owned $750,000 nursing home is nearing completion on Appleton's southeast side and should be in operation by mid-October.

The announcement was made today by Charles R. Barnum, home administrator, who will have his office at 317 W. College Ave. until moving into the new facility soon.

The home, a 100-bed unit, is one of two such facilities being constructed in the Fox Cities by the Commo Corp. of Minneapolis. The other is going up in Neenah.

Nursing Care

"We expect that most of our residents will be people needing some type of nursing care during their retirement," Barnum said.

The ranch-type building will have an administration center with four residential wings extending from it. All administrative offices and the nursing station will be centralized. Barnum said the staff will include 25 persons to start with and then increase to over 50.

He said residents of the nursing home will have many conveniences and facilities as result of the special construction. Among the features will be both audio and visual systems for residents to contact nurses, or the reverse.

Started in Spring

Construction started on the nursing home at the corner of Newberry Street and Briar Cliff Drive in the spring.

Barnum said there will be a public open house to give residents of the Fox Cities area an opportunity to inspect the facilities.

Future expansion plans call for a small clinic and pharmacy.

The entire area will be landscaped to blend in with the residential atmosphere. Barnum said.

Oshkosh Files Brief in Port Court Battle

OSHKOSH — The best chance to develop improved airline service for the Appleton-Oshkosh area would be to designate the Winnebago County Airport as the regional airport for the Central Fox Valley, according to Winnebago County in a brief to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Outagamie County began action against the Civil Aeronautics Board's decision to name Winnebago County Airport as the regional port recently, and Winnebago County prepared the study in its defense which was served Friday on parties to the court case by Counsel Jack Steinhilber.

"The decision of the board will improve air service to the entire Lake Winnebago area, Appleton included," Steinhilber stated in the brief. "Practically speaking, the Winnebago Airport has been the de facto regional airport since the inauguration of airline service by North Central in 1948," he added.

The decision of the board, he continued, "was not made as a question of retention or removal of service to anyone, but rather how could the best service be rendered to all the cities in the area."

Action Planned on Vetoed Military Bill

LBJ Says It Usurped His Powers

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman L. Mendel Rivers says his House Armed Services Committee plans to move "as fast as conditions warrant" to revise restrictions in closing military bases — the issue which prompted President Johnson to veto a big military construction bill.

The South Carolina Democrat's statement that he was seeking "something with which both the President and Congress can live" indicated that no effort was planned to try to override Johnson's veto of Saturday night.

In rejecting the $1.78-billion military construction authorization measure, Johnson said the effort to give Congress a stronger hand in blocking future shutdowns of military bases represented "a fundamental encroachment" on the powers of the executive branch.

Controversial Provision
The controversial provision forbids the secretary of defense from closing or reducing the mission of any military installation until 120 days after he has reported his plans to the Senate and House Armed Services Committees. Such reports could only be submitted from Jan. 1 to April 30.

In returning the bill to the House clerk without his signature, Johnson opened the way to possible compromise by indicating he might be satisfied with "a reasonable reporting provision" of any contemplated base closures.

The measure is to be referred back to the Armed Services Committee, which originated the restrictions. No meeting date has been set.

The construction bill established the ceiling for defense construction, including housing, in the fiscal year which started July 1. The actual money for construction will be voted later in an appropriation bill.

At the same time that he vetoed the construction authorization Johnson signed into law

Vacationers Adrift in Stormy Bay

FISH CREEK (AP) — Five persons drifted 13 hours throughout a stormy night in a disabled open boat on Lake Michigan's Green Bay before the craft was washed ashore Sunday.

A drenching rain soaked the Chicago vacationers, including two children, and swells up to five feet tossed the small craft. The rain and the waves threatened continually to fill the boat.

"They said they bailed all night," reported Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer Robert Gleaton.

Located by the Coast Guard 10 minutes after they reached shore were Paul Shane, 30; Jeanne Rose, 27; Mrs. Joan Gordon, 32, and her two children, Karen, 12, and David, 10.

Gleaton described them as "wet, hungry and pretty unharmed."

The Coast Guard said Shane had rented the 16-foot outboard motor boat at Ephraim Saturday. The boaters ran out of fuel near Chambers Island in the middle of the bay.

A sailboat operator discovered the disabled boat late Saturday and notified authorities. The Coast Guard searched through the night before finding the five at daybreak on a beach near Fish Creek.

The $1-billion military pay increase bill. It goes into effect Sept. 1 and means raises for all officers and enlisted men, both on active duty and in the reserves.

Fair Cleanup Crews Start Herculean Task

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A task force of workers swarmed over the Wisconsin State Fair grounds today to begin the herculean task of cleaning up after another record-breaking run of the state's gala agricultural extravaganza.

Three days of rain at midweek dampened the turnout until crowds recovered with more than 100,000 fairgoers daily for the final weekend.

Fair Administrator Willard M. Masterson said late Sunday night, "It's the most successful state fair ever."

He said attendance would probably have topped 1 million for the first time in history had it not been for the rains, but added, "We're very pleased with what we got."

Trouble on All Missions

Gemini Problems Prove Ability of Man in Space

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — By overcoming their power system problem, the Gemini 5 astronauts once again have proved man's ability to save a space mission.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr., taking instructions from the ground, took corrective measures which stabilized the fuel pressure problem in the system. If they had not done so, they would have been ordered back to earth during the sixth orbit.

Flight Director Christopher C. Kraft said that even without all the assistance from ground experts and computers "they probably could have worked the problem out by themselves."

Unmanned Vehicle
"If it had been an unmanned vehicle, I doubt that we would have gotten it back."

Six of nine U.S. manned space flights have encountered troubles. On three of them, the pilots might not have returned safely to earth if they had not overcome their difficulties.

Virgil I. Grissom had to swim for his life when the door of his Liberty Bell 7 spacecraft suddenly blew out after landing and the capsule sank. That was after his suborbital flight in the Mercury program on July 21, 1961.

The first orbiting American, John H. Glenn Jr. experienced a failure of a small control jet during his Friendship 7 flight Feb. 20, 1962. This forced him to take partial manual control of the craft, which was designed to operate automatically.

Heat Shield Loose
Later in the flight, ground

controllers received an indication that the heat shield at the Edward H. White II last June, a base of the capsule was loose. Glenn was told not to jettison his package of retro-rockets after they fired so that its straps could hold the shield in space. Without it, Glenn would burn up on re-entry. Later examination showed that the shield actually was not loose.

A short circuit in M. Scott Carpenter's Aurora 7 spacecraft fouled up the device which told him the angle his spacecraft nose was pointed. He aligned the capsule to what he thought was the correct position by looking at the horizon and was able to achieve the approximate re-entry angle, although he overshoot the intended landing area by 250 miles. That was May 24, 1962.

Cooper's first space mission, the Faith 7 flight of May 15-16, 1963, ran into trouble when a faulty tube allowed drinking water to leak into the cabin. During the 19th orbit, a panel light blinked on, indicating the pull of gravity and premature beginning of re-entry.

Manual Return
Ground stations calculated he was still in orbit. The flight continued its full 22 orbits, but because of fear that water might have short-circuited the automatic re-entry system, Cooper was directed to fly the capsule manually back to earth — the first U.S. spaceman to do so.

Ford Slaps at LBJ 'Effort to Muffle House Leadership'

'Our Message Starting to Get Across' Claims Top Republican

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Goldberg was dispatched Wednesday to brief Eisenhower President Johnson is "systematically setting out behind the scenes to destroy the Republican leadership in the House."

Ford, as the No. 1 man in that leadership, said in an interview he thinks the President is attempting to muffle and discount House Republicans' criticism of domestic and foreign policies.

The reason Ford gives is that "I think he sees we're beginning to get our message across — that the people around the country are understanding the need for a strong two-party system."

The only way to rein in the President is to elect a substantial number of Republicans to the House next year.

Ford sees as examples of Johnson trying to slap down the House GOP leaders two well-published exchanges:

Johnson's Criticism
— Johnson's public criticism of Republican efforts to substitute their voting rights bill for the administration's.

— Johnson's charge that one of the GOP congressional leaders — taken to mean Ford — had broken the President's confidence and had leaked to news- men information from a White House session on Viet Nam.

Ford later said he had not given out such information.

Last week, Ford's GOP team obviously thought it had a counter-ple of issues it could run with in the administration's decision to give up the fight on the U.N. House of Commons.

Fond du Lac Tips Freedom, Evens Playoff

Dave Reamer Hurls 3-Hitter in 3-0 FRVL Triumph

FREEDOM — Dave Reamer and Larry Huebner locked in a pitching struggle Sunday afternoon, with Reamer coming out the winner, leading Fond du Lac to a 3-0 victory over Freedom in the best-of-three playoffs for the Valley Baseball League championship. Each team has won once, with the date for the final contest still undetermined.

Reamer allowed just three singles and never allowed more than one Freedom batter to reach base in the same inning, until the ninth when he walked his third batter of the game and gave up his third single. He struck out 10.

Fond du Lac scored early against Huebner, with a pair in the first and another run in the fourth. Lee Olmstead reached first on an error in the first and raced home as Dave Kornea blasted a triple. Kornea scored on Richter's single.

Richter got his second single in the fourth, stole second and scored on LeFebvre's double, the last hit of the game off Huebner.

Huebner recorded five strike outs in his route-going performance and retired the side in order in seven innings, including the last 16 batters to face him. He didn't walk a batter and two of the three runs scored off him were unearned.

Box score for Fond du Lac vs Freedom. Fond du Lac: 3, Freedom: 0. Hitters: Haberkorn, Olmstead, Kornea, Richter, Heimerl, LaFebvre, Clinton, Reamer. Pitchers: Gerritts, Romensko, Zeratsky, D. Wetlering, Westphal, V. Heuvel, Krause, Huebner.

Final Week Of Season Underway

CLINTON, Ia. — The Fox Cities returned to the more friendly confines of Goodland Field tonight for an 8 p.m. date with Waterloo after dropping a 5-4 Midwest League verdict to Clinton's C-Sox here Sunday. The Foxes and Waterloo will clash tonight and Tuesday, with the latter night's festivities to be highlighted by Player Appreciation awards. Tonight's attraction is billed as Ladies and Knot-hole night.

Clinton jumped off to a 4-0 lead Sunday before the Foxes struck with vengeance in the eighth inning. Clinton starter Ken Murphy had blanked the Foxes through the first seven frames, but Elmore Hill's walk in the eighth ignited a 4-run explosion.

Hill was forced at second by Curt Motton. Jim Rouse singled to center and Ray Wolkowski followed with a run-scoring double to center field. Pat Lutz grounded to first, with Rouse scoring. Wolkowski and Lutz advanced to third and second, respectively, on a passed ball. Singles by Wally Birchler and Dennis Denning plated the final two markers as the Foxes batted around in the inning.

With the score tied at 4-4, Clinton broke the deadlock in the bottom of the hectic eighth. Fred Kovner singled off reliever Lance Tobert, who suffered his first loss without a win, and Jerry Sutton sacrificed Kovner to second. A ground rule double that bounced over the right field fence plated Kovner with what proved to be the winning run.

Just, Mellen Star as Manty Defense Shines

KAUKAUNA — Quarterback Gary Just came off the bench in the second quarter and threw a brilliant aerial attack at Elmhurst, Ill., as the Manitowoc County Chiefs opened their Central States League season with a 43-12 trouncing of the Travelers before a standing-room-only crowd at Doty Bayou Field Sunday afternoon. Just completed 13 of 26 passes for 231 yards, including touchdown heaves of 35, 29 and eight yards. He added a 33-yard field goal and scored a pair of points after touchdown.

Just was not alone in the hero's role, however, as Green Bay's Butch Mellen scored a pair of touchdowns, one on a dazzling 21-yard sweep, and crunched for 105 yards in 25 carries, all despite sitting out the fourth quarter.

Awesome Defense

The Chiefs' defense was awesome, limiting the Travelers' big-back offense to a net 72 yards and only three first downs. Two of the first downs came by penalty and the other on a 50-yard pass play from Jim Bejna to Tom Nagle. The play represented two-thirds of the Travelers' output for the day. Starting quarterback Paul Schneider set up the Chiefs' first score with a 21-yard pass to Dave Wagner, the first of nine catches by the end of the game. Mellen then swept the right end for 21 more yards and the first score.

Just came on midway through the second period and pitched a TD pass, with Bill Roulette making a diving catch in the end zone. Elmhurst scored with 10 seconds remaining in the half on a five-yard jump pass from Bejna to John Scheldrup. After Just's field goal from 33 Turn to Page 6, Col. 7

Braves Return Home After Slide to Third

Pirates Win, 6-4, On Walk in 11th; Face Reds Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Has success spoiled the Milwaukee Braves?

The heroes of a herculean one-month ascent to the peak of the National League pennant race, only to execute a one-weekend slide from grace, return to Milwaukee County Stadium tonight to open a four-game series against Cincinnati and answer that question.

The Braves, who had traded the league lead with Los Angeles six times in five days, lost a chance to get it back again Sunday when relief pitcher Dan Osinski walked in the winning run in the bottom of the 11th for a 5-4 loss at Pittsburgh.

The defeat toppled the Braves to third as San Francisco clipped Los Angeles 4 - 3 and moved into second place. The Giants trail the Dodgers by .001; the Braves trail Los Angeles by .002.

For the Braves who began the road trip with six straight victories, it was the third loss in their last four games.

Crowd of 1,000

Nevertheless, the Braves returned to Milwaukee Sunday night with a 7-3 overall record for their latest foray to foreign fields and were met at the airport by a cheering, horn-tooting crowd estimated at 1,000.

Rico Carty, a frequent defensive goat of the Braves, turned in a sparkling running backhand catch of Willie Stargell's sinking liner in the first inning to cut off a Pirate threat and Jones made a spectacular ninth inning diving catch, but in between trouble came too frequently.

Hank Aaron doubled in the third to score Felipe Alou and Carty and crossed the plate himself after a wild pitch and a

Superior Ousted From National Legion Tourney

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP) — Detroit Edison battered Superior, Wis., 10-3 Sunday night to advance to the finals of the American Legion junior baseball Region 5 tournament tonight against Arlington Heights, Ill.

Detroit's Rick Konik struck out the first nine batters he faced and a total of 12 over the five innings he pitched. He collected three singles himself and batted in two runs as Superior bowed out of the double elimination tournament.

Superior had ousted Jefferson City, Mo., 4-2 in 11 innings Saturday night.

Chisox Extend Victory String to 10 With Sweep Over Kansas City '9'

Chicago Pulls Within 6 1/2 Games of Twins; Chance Hurls 6-Hitter

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The White Sox pulled within 6 1/2 games of the Minnesota Twins in the American League pennant chase.

The Sox completed a triumphant swing through the AL low country Sunday with an 8-3, 2-1 doubleheader sweep over last-place Kansas City that stretched their winning string to 10 games.

In a nine-day drive from fifth to second place, the White Sox took three games from ninth-place Boston, three from eighth-place Washington and four from the Athletics while making up five lengths — from 11 1/2 to 6 1/2 — on the front-running Minnesota Twins.

Al Lopez used six starting pitchers during the streak and each one picked up at least one victory — but John Buzhardt's four-hitter in the Kansas City finale was only the second complete game on the trip. Chicago starters — Buzhardt, Gary Peters, Tommy John, Juan Pizarro, Bruce Howard and Joe Horlen — have finished a total of 16 games all year.

The team batting average, meanwhile, is an unimpressive .248, with Moose Skowron's .291 mark the top figure.

The Sox, however, have outscored the opposition 57-21 during their current surge while the bullpen, paced by knuckleballer Eddie Fisher, has been virtually untouchable.

Fisher made his 62nd appearance of the season in Sunday's opener, finishing for the 49th time and protecting Horlen's 11th victory with a strong 3 1/3-inning stint.

Buzhardt blanked the A's after the first inning in the nightcap, retiring the last 14 men he faced, for his 10th victory and first complete game since May 6.

Dean Chance stilled the Twins at Los Angeles, scattering six hits and driving in two runs in a 4-1 victory that earned the Angels a split of the four-game series.

Gained Ground
Third place Detroit also gained ground on Minnesota with a 2-1 victory over Boston in a game halted by rain in the sixth inning. Cleveland trimmed Washington 8-5 in 10 innings and the New York-Baltimore doubleheader was rained out.

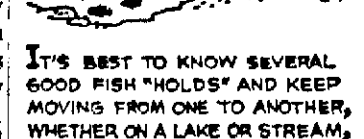

Chance, 10-9, knocked in the Angels last two runs with a bases-loaded single off loser Jim Kaat in the sixth. The hit — Chance's fifth in 55 at-bats this season — followed an intentional walk to Paul Schaal. Jim Piersall had given the Angels a 2-1 lead in the fifth with a two-run homer.

Tony Oliva singled home the Twins' run in the first inning but was forced out of the game a moment later when Chance's attempted pickoff throw struck him on the back of the head, shattering his batting helmet. Oliva walked off the field but was sent to a hospital for precautionary X-rays.

Don Demeter's two-run homer off Dennis Bennett in the second inning carried Detroit past Boston and helped pitcher Joe Sparrma boost his record to 10-5. Sparrma allowed four hits, yield-

DON'T OVERWORK A FISHING "HOLD"

IT'S BEST TO KNOW SEVERAL GOOD FISH "HOLDS" AND KEEP MOVING FROM ONE TO ANOTHER, WHETHER ON A LAKE OR STREAM, THAN TO OVERWORK ONE HOLD AFTER CATCHING 1 OR 2 FISH IN IT. THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS SUCH AS A SCHOOL OF PERCH, CRAPPIE, BLUEGILLS (BREAM), AND WALLEYES. COMMOTION OF PLAYING A FISH USUALLY FRIGHTENS OTHER FISH IN THE SAME SPOT. SOMETIMES IT PAYS TO CAST A FLY SO TIMES TO A TROUT, OR NEEDLE A BASS UNTIL HE TAKES A PLS. BUT MOST OFTEN IT PAYS TO MOVE ON AFTER A FEW CASTS. 'Young Players Impressive'

Bays in Mid-Season Form, Says Halas

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Master builder Vince Lombardi may have constructed another monumental football team on the shores of Green Bay.

The Green Bay Packers looked nothing less than awe-inspiring Saturday afternoon as they pummeled the Chicago Bears 31-14 in a National Football League pre-season game.

"They are in midseason form," Chicago Owner Coach George Halas said of the Packers afterwards.

"Their young players especially impressed me," added Halas, "and I know Vince was counting heavily on them. They are going to be very hard to handle in the regular season."

Lombardi, Green Bay Coach and general manager, said he was displeased with the lack of continuity in the Packers attack while the line-up was juggled repeatedly to test various play-

Lombardi said, "I would have liked to see more sustained punch."

But the Packers were stymied only for the first 15 minutes of the game. They walked off the field at halftime with a 21-0 lead built on touchdowns by Jim Salvino got a strike on a ball that was out of the pocket, and Schissler left four pins standing on his first delivery of the 10th frame.

That wrapped it up for Salvino, who had gone into the third and final day of play trailing Schissler by 124 pins. Salvino rolled 216 in his final game. Schissler had 202.

It was the Chicagoan's first tournament victory in more than a year and earned him a $3,000 check. His 40-game pin nation's top - rated player for total was 8,739 to Schissler's 8,730.

Schissler received $1,500.

Taylor, Tom Moore and Elijah player in the game, the 16th annual Midwest Shrine exhibition for the benefit of the Shriners' crippled children's fund.

Willie Wood, a will of the wisp defensive back, won the most valuable prize for defense, but the Packers were most impressive as a team, individual heroes aside.

The Packers had everything going for them, including a passing attack that gained 134 yards with 14 completions in 25 attempts, a rushing game that netted 129 yards. Don Chandler's punting averaged 48.8 yards a boot and precise execution of punt returns.

Lombardi had complained about the way the Packers blocked on punts against the Giants, but he had no grounds for complaint Saturday as two long punt returns set up the first two touchdowns.

Buckley added a two-run homer in the second to back up the three-hit, shutout pitching of Gary Walland who struck out 11.

Peters, which handed Gallo way its first defeat 7-0 Saturday, clipped Neenah 8-3 in the winners' bracket Sunday. Gallo set the pace in the Fox Valley way then emerged from the losers' bracket by eliminating Neenah 1-0 on a four hit shutout by Doran Geissler.

Foyt's regular Lotus-Ford arrived too late for the race, but the two-time Indianapolis 500 winner grabbed the pole position in a dirt track Offy with a top qualifying speed of 107.88 miles an hour. He led the first three miles before Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif., and Mar-

Tex., was third and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., fourth. Jim McElreath of Arlington, Tex., followed Leonard, with Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., seventh; Bobby Grim, Indianapolis, Ind., eighth; Jud Larson, Kansas City, Mo., ninth; and Chuck Rodee, Indianapolis, 10th.

Madison, scoring on a 69-yard pass interception by Dave Kamm, held Racine to a 7-10 halftime tie before Raider quarterback Jim May directed a 58-yard scoring drive in the third period with passing gains of 1, 15 and 19 yards. May sneaked over the one for the deciding touchdown.

Any businessman or public works contractor who buys space in a Democratic advertising booklet, and identifies himself, can be sure that he will be getting a call from a Republican solicitor a little later, and vice versa.

Door Forced Open and ransacked, but until the owner is able to check for the break-ins. The other break-ins occurred near Wieland's Landing, on the cottage it will not be known until the owner is able to check for the break-ins. The break-in at the Schraier house is owned by Leo F. Gough. The trailer netted thieves one hundred and thirty dollars. The house is owned by George F. Schraier, 1030 W. Grant St., Appleton. The break-ins on the Little was taken.

Eighteen rifles were arranged in semicircle in front of a tent. A camouflaged helmet had been placed on each rifle butt. The rifles symbolized the men of the 3rd Battalion of the 3rd U.S. Marine Regiment who died fighting at Van Tuong last Wednesday and Thursday in the biggest American battle so far in the Viet Nam War.

In Johnson, Kennedy Chill

Democratic Leaders Worried Over Party's High-Level Split

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Tucked into Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's latest newsletter back home is a picture showing a broadly smiling President Johnson handing the broadly smiling junior Senator from New York one of those famous bill-signing pens.

The week's activities will culminate Sept. 7—the first day of the White House, was scarcely significant. Nor was the President's aside the Senator. ("I wonder what they'll say about us now," bystanders overheard him say.)

What is significant is Kennedy's decision to feature the picture in his regular newsletter to constituents. This symbolizes a cooling of the country's hottest political feud. It has fed the political gossip mills and worried Democratic leaders ever since Mr. Johnson moved into the White House.

Mutual gestures toward a less strained relationship have come with startling rapidity.

Health authorities, both in America and abroad, are stepping up efforts in pointing out the health hazard of cigarette smoking. The primary target of these efforts is the young people—those who haven't yet acquired the cigarette-smoking habit.

How do you encourage young people to avoid the smoking habit?

Warn Youngs People Among the widely accepted theories is to "de-glamorize" smoking. Emphasize to young men and women that smoking doesn't make one more popular; that it doesn't make one look (or feminine); that it doesn't make a person more masculine (or feminine); that it doesn't make one look more handsome. Most of all, there's nothing "smart" about smoking!

Great Britain has prohibited television advertising of cigarettes. The Scandinavian countries have also imposed restrictions on cigarette advertising.

Legislation before our own Congress has been amended to eliminate advertising restrictions. The bill currently under consideration merely provides that the cigarette package carry a statement that cigarette smoking "may be hazardous" to health!

Until more effective action is taken we must continue to focus on the statement of the advisory committee that "cigarette smoking is a health hazard of appropriate remedial action."

Cited for His Service to the printing industry at a dinner recently was C. J. Hansen, center, owner and publisher of the "Kaukauna Times." He was awarded an engraved plaque signed by International Typographical Union. Richard Wege, left, Appleton, local secretary, and Wayne Gerharz, present the award. (Times Photo)

U. S. Surgeon General Warns Of Health Hazards of Smoking

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D. State Health Officer

"Every 4 minutes someone in this country dies prematurely because of cigarette smoking."

That statement was made recently by U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry at the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association in Chicago. The talk re-emphasized and supplemented the first anniversary report of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health. Even that 4-minute death rate is probably too conservative, according to Dr. Terry. Perhaps as many as 300,000 deaths each year may be caused by cigarettes.

Health authorities, both in America and abroad, are stepping up efforts in pointing out the health hazard of cigarette smoking. The primary target of these efforts is the young people—those who haven't yet acquired the cigarette-smoking habit.

U. S. Planes Strike Hydroelectric Plant In North Viet Nam

Heavy Damage Reported After Third Raid at Same Target

Job Corps Camp Back To Normalcy

Some Students Transferred, 37 Listed as 'AWOL'

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP) — By transferring and discharging students involved in a Friday riot, Job Corps officials hoped today to return Camp Breckinridge training to its normal schedule.

"We are getting the people involved," said Charles Preston, director for public relations. "It will be business as usual with classes and job training."

Thirteen students had left the training program Sunday, voluntarily or under orders, including seven against whom charges of public drunkenness were dropped when their dismissal was ordered. Six others were transferred to other centers.

Most of the 546 students at the camp at the time of the rioting that injured 13 persons, fled in fear during the weekend. Of these 483 had returned by Sunday night.

Thirty-seven were absent without leave and seven took leave.

Job Corps officials were checking hotels in the area for AWOLs.

Preston said those who refused to return would be dropped from the Job Corps, a part of the federal antipoverty program aimed at providing job training for youths 16 to 21.

Of those who returned late, Preston said, "Normally any student who misses a bus (to return to camp) is in for a disciplinary hearing. But these circumstances are a little bit unusual."

Despite Lessons of History and Recent Setbacks

Air of Cautious Optimism Concerning Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The small tide of optimism rising in the Johnson administration Americans back. With World War II in Europe on the door, the Johnson administration Americans back. With World War II in Europe on the door, the Johnson administration Americans back.

The optimism in the highest levels of the government is restrained for several reasons, among them:

1. The successes and trends are still dwarfed by the massive setbacks during the last year or two.

2. History holds up a cautionary finger about optimism. In the three-day battle last week that headed off a Communist attack on the Marine air base at Chu Lai, U.S. officials say almost 600 Viet Cong were killed and hundreds more were wounded. U.S. casualties have not been listed. Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, Marine commander in the Pacific, called the battle a major victory.

The daily bombing attacks on North Viet Nam targets are producing effects on the North Vietnamese civilian economy, it is contended in many administration quarters. The expected scale of Viet Cong attacks under cover of the monsoon rains has fallen short of original predictions by U.S. strategists, in part because U.S. and South Vietnamese ground and air forces have been able to battle more aggressively than was expected.

There is some evidence the Viet Cong Communist guerrilla forces are having their own manpower troubles. Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said in a speech last week that "war and time have taken their toll and Hanoi's reserve of southern manpower, like its arsenal of captured weapons, has begun to run out."

On the other hand, the South Vietnamese army is finding that its reserve of manpower is growing low.

All of these factors and others probably have resulted in top administration officials deciding that the gloom is lightening a little.

There are other obscure tactical and strategic bits put into the picture.

There is no evidence that the Viet Cong have been able to replenish heavily and build up their stocks of supplies which had come in from the north.

The Viet Cong guerrilla army's organization has been affected too — a ground report said he sounded hoarse.

Both men are heavy sleepers when they sleep. When astronaut coordinator Donald K. Slayton awoke them on the morning of blast off, he had to shake them to bring them to consciousness.

Cooper set something of a record on his 34-hour space flight May 15-16, 1963. He took some 13 naps — some of them too brief to record. The longest was about an hour. Each time he would awake refreshed and happy — and then 30 to 45 minutes later, he would nod and doze off. Sometimes only the sleeping pattern of his heart rate and breathing would tell doctors on the ground that Gordo had slipped off again.

This flight was different. There was crisis early — and both astronauts were concerned with the ability of the fuel cell system to provide power for the long flight. Would they have to re-enter after just six orbits? Would they have only a day in space?

They were both so concerned that every time there was a report on their power system, both would fight sleep off to be around to hear it, flight surgeon Dr. Charles Berry said.

Athens Police Ready for Strict Action in Riots

Tsirimokos Says He Will Ban All Public Demonstration

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Etias Tsirimokos is reported ready to crack down hard on any more demonstrations in Athens in support of fallen premier George Papandreu.

Sources said Tsirimokos four-day-old government was prepared to ban all public demonstrations in downtown Athens and order police to move in fast whenever large crowds gathered.

So far only street marches have been banned while gatherings in stadiums and theaters were permitted. But more than 150 persons were injured in a six-hour riot Friday night when some 15,000 demonstrators tried to march on Parliament following a pro-Papandreu rally in a downtown theater.

A police official said it was the worst outbreak of violence in the Greek capital since the 1947-49 civil war.

More than 500 persons have been injured and a leftist student has been killed in street disorders since 25-year-old King Constantine fired Papandreu July 15. They disagreed on who should control the armed forces.

Tsirimokos, who last week broke with Papandreu's Center Union party, was believed still a few votes short of the majority in Parliament he needs to survive. He goes before Parliament this week to ask for a vote of confidence.

While King Constantine spent the weekend with his family on the island of Corfu, Papandreu was putting his case before the people in the provinces.

The former premier called the royal palace "a workshop manufacturing fake governments" in a speech at Volos Saturday night.

Because of Balky Fuel Cell, Flight Controllers Make Day-to-Day Decision

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts, well rested after sound sleeping periods, swept into their third day in space today and prepared to chase a phantom satellite across the skies.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. were to begin pursuing the imaginary satellite in a rehearsal for Gemini 6 flight scheduled in October.

Flight controllers were confident the mission would go the full eight days ending with a splashdown Sunday in the Atlantic. Successful completion would eclipse the Soviet endurance record of five days.

Day-to-Day

Because of a spacecraft power problem which caused concern early in the flight, controllers are committing the pilots to continuing only on a day-to-day basis. The trouble with a balky fuel cell oxygen supply was improving steadily.

Mrs. Conrad was in the control center today during a Gemini 5 pass overhead. Astronaut James A. McDivitt, the capsule communicator, acted as a go-between in a brief exchange between husband and wife, who was in a glass-enclosed viewing room.

Here's how it went: McDivitt: "Why not make a few comments for the better sex. Jane is here."

Conrad: "Hello there. How're all the boys doing?"

McDivitt: "She says 'fine'."

Both astronauts were reported in fine spirits after logging 10 hours sleep in the second day. Medical experts had been concerned because each had catnapped only about two hours on the first day.

Different Path

For the phantom satellite exercise, the astronauts were to assume that an Agena satellite was orbiting about 477 miles ahead of them on a difficult orbital path.

Over a period of 2 1/2 hours, Cooper and Conrad were to conduct four maneuvers, using jet thrusters, to close to within 15 miles of the imaginary satellite.

This would simulate the Gemini 6 rendezvous and docking experiment up to the terminal phase. At that point in Gemini 6, the astronauts will require visual aids from flashing lights and a radar beacon on the Agena target.

Cooper and Conrad had hoped to make a rendezvous to within 20 feet of a satellite they ejected from the Gemini 5 spacecraft on

India Might Cross Cease-Fire Line to Hit Pakistan Positions

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan made clear that the Indian government has not ruled out further attacks across the Kashmir cease-fire line against Pakistani positions.

Chavan told Parliament if the government feels it necessary to carry its war against the guerrillas in Kashmir across the line, "I have no doubt that we will do that."

Communist members criticized the United Nations observers who have been in Kashmir since India and Pakistan fought a war over the state in 1948.

Chavan replied the U.N. observers are trying their best. He said they are "largely ineffective" in preventing attacks by Pakistani infiltrators and regular army units.

Humphrey Lectures College Students

'Right to be Heard Doesn't Include Being Taken Seriously'

MADISON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told college students here today that "the right to be heard does not include the right to be taken seriously. The latter depends entirely upon what is being said."

Taking note of recent student protest demonstrations, Humphrey said in a prepared speech for the annual convention of the National Student Association at the University of Wisconsin:

"I've heard critics say that dissent in America has been silenced, when, in fact, it is simply that little attention is being paid to the critics' views."

Newcomers Who attended the Tuesday afternoon tea at the Golden Age Clubhouse found they had many things in common. Discussing some of the problems involved in getting acquainted in a new community, above, are Mrs. Raymond Kibort, who acted as assistant hostess, and Mrs. Val Janschutz and Mrs. Conrad Verhelst. New Season Launched at Teas

Welcome Wagon Newcomers and Civic League groups got together for late summer teas last week at the Golden Age Clubhouse, 532 N. Appleton St. Mrs. W. B. Thompson was hostess at the parties, which opened the fall agendas of both groups.

The Newcomers' tea was held Tuesday afternoon. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Allen Schmidt, Mrs. Hugo Wimmer, Mrs. William Suam, Mrs. Philip Brackish, Mrs. James Crawford, Mrs. Charles Wegner, Mrs. Richard Willis, Mrs. William Shirack, Mrs. Ray Kibort, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Collard, Mrs. D. W. Russler, Mrs. Vincent Crolius and Mrs. Fred Kirch.

Those who assisted at the Wednesday Civic League event were Mrs. Charles Seter, Mrs. Sam Bond, Mrs. Herbert Timmerman and Mrs. Arthur Joy.

Members of the Civic League have been in Appleton for at least two years and are busily engaged in many civic activities. One of those associated with the Golden Age Club is the repairing of toys for pre-Christmas sale. Looking over the variety of items Golden Agers are putting into top shape are Mrs. William Mann and Mrs. S. H. Van Steen, who sneaked to the basement workshop during Wednesday's tea. Hysteria Reigns at the Track

Harness Race Big Fair Attraction

BY ROGER PITT Post-Crescent Staff Writer

AMHERST—Hysteria fills the air as the sleek horse pulling the racing sulky comes down the stretch known as heartbreak lane in many a driver and owner.

Thousands pack into the numerous county fairs around the state each year to watch harness racing horses, a sleek temperamental breed.

In their unnatural gait they show more fortitude than the big prize winner thoroughbreds at Churchill Downs.

Top Money in Chicago

A top pacer or trotter can pull in considerable sums of money racing in known how to rate the track with two lead ropes race to win, not set time and Willard Fletcher, Clintonville.

his two horses, capturing $560.

Kirsling, an Amherst native, has won his share of races and trained more than his share of horses. The two presently comprising his stable are 41 and 42.

His two-year colt bearing the tongue-twisting name of Waxahachie was the top horse during two days of racing.

Young Stallion

The young stallion showed his mettle Saturday night by taking successive heats in the mile pace in times of 2:14.3 and 2:20.2.

The faster time in the opening heat came with Kirsling drawing the pole position in the second row of sulkies.

Training Horse

The horse is first led around the track with two lead ropes race to win, not set time and Willard Fletcher, Clintonville.

Kirsling said his two-year-old natural to harness racing. Kirsling said.

He can do times of 2:06 for the mile, he said. He lists Waxahachie as one of his better horses.

The Amherst car dealer learned much of his racing savvy from his father who traded four junk cars valued at $10 each for an 11-year-old horse that had won $55. The horse never finished out of the money for Kirsling.

Pacing and trotting are unbecomingly slow for Kirsling's natural. It takes much patience to develop the strides, he said.

Learning Gait

Little by little the horse becomes a pacer. Front and back feet work diagonally or a trotter with feet on same side working together.

When a horse breaks during a race he reverts back to the gallop of the saddle horse.

A race horse usually reaches its peak at five years old. Kirsling reports, although the 11-year old he used to own has been winning at Chicago.

Harness horses are bred for more stamina than the saddle racers at the Kentucky Derby.

Race To Win

Kirsling's philosophy is to exert the horse extensively when he can win. Kirsling says.

Four-Way Tie Possibility in New London Softball League

NEW LONDON — A four-way runs home with his round trip for the second half title in Industrial Softball League play is a possibility, according to loop president Lawrence Justinger.

Justinger has drawn up a play-off schedule for a possible tie. Franklin House would meet Lloyd's and Howie's would play Sport-O-Lectric in event of a four-team deadlock.

Howie's and Franklin House have finished play with identical 6-2 records. Lloyd's is one-half game out with a 5-2 mark. Sport-O-Lectric is 4-2 with two games remaining this week.

Forfeited Game
Berglund's forfeited to Kel- ler's Dugout last week.

Sport-O-Lectric pounded out a narrow 20-17 win over Larsen's. Pete Schlise collected a home run with one on base and Melvin Meyers brought three Bob Kroll collected two triples that accounted for three runs. Louis Schmandt drove in three runs and Bob Schuette account- ed for two with home runs, while Gary Frank brought three home with a triple for the losers.

Lloyd's blanked Franklin House 10-0. Jerry Sabrowski allowed just three hits en route to the shutout. Tom Hoffman scored two runs with his home run.

Berglund's Pulls Upset
Berglund's upset Howie's 5-4. Howie's protested the game because of a home run ruling by the plate umpire.

The disputed call arose when Ken Smith lofted a deep fly ball to left field. The fielder went back to the fence and apparent- ly caught the ball for an out. The ball then popped out of his hand over the fence.

A ruling on the call will be made at a pre-play-off meeting of the league.

In games this week Sport-O- Lectric plays Edison today and Lloyd's plays Larsen's Tuesday. In the final league game of the season Edison will meet Pine Tree.

Sharp, Colorful and Satisfying

'Bye, Bye, Birdie' Provides Smash Climax to Attic Theater's Summer

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

The summer's community theater season is rocking to a smash climax with the Attic Theater's sharp, colorful and satisfying production of Michael Stewart and Lee Adams' "Bye, Bye, Birdie" to full houses in Stansbury Theater in the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

With the emergence of a strong, active children's theater in the Fox Cities this summer it is appropriate that the season's climax should be dedicated to and given life by teenagers.

Despite the tenuous thread of a somewhat adult love story, the Attic's show is a vehicle for the spirit and exuberance of adolescence, and the fact the vehicle is more or less fueled with satire doesn't detract a whit from the show's obvious sympathy for the youngsters.

Kingpin Of Fun

The kingpin in all of the fun—an obvious take-off on Elvis—is Conrad Birdie, currently being brought to the stage bigger than life by Tom Callaway, who displays all of the poise and other appropriate equipment needed for a career as a screamers' idol.

Although Callaway is making his first foray onto the boards, he handles his wonderfully absurd role like a veteran.

However, neophytes acting like veterans is more the rule than the exception in this Attic outing.

"Birdie's" love interest is played with sensitivity as well as squeals by Lynda Reynolds, who possesses a beautiful contralto voice and a fund of presence.

At the other end of the age scale is Nancy Abraham, who turns in most hilarious, deadpan portrayal of a grasping, ever-suffering mother after the image of Phillip Wylie's "Mom." Mrs. Abraham's timing and delivery can not be improved on, she is perfect.

Real Stars of Show

The real stars of the show are the company of exuberant youths, all 19 of them. However, Ginny Werner for her own deadpanning, Pam Moehring for her fine soprano, Bill Jones for his cracked voice, Larry Lundeen for his histrionics and Ricky Vander Velden for being the leading squealer deserve special mention.

There are adults—and veterans at that—in the show too. Two of the most prominent are Karen Krumm and Don Jones. Not only do they carry the "plot" of the show with a deceptively light touch, but they

Since a musical is spectacle as well as music, dance and fun, "Bye, Bye, Birdie" needed good technical support and it got it—in spades. custodian are all housed in the building.

The steam heating system is not in proper working order for the council chamber or municipal justice office in the winter and the entire building is stifling in the summer.

The police department has the most inadequate area. They are stuck in two small rooms, one of which leaked profusely after each rain until recent repairs rectified the problem. The two cell jail is inadequate. There is no area for interrogation, no office for the chief and storage is insufficient, among other things.

Purchase of the Miles Building, located diagonally from city hall on Pearl Street is currently being considered. Devoted to police use, it would alleviate the space problem currently facing the city.

Plans are to move the police department into the building if the purchase is approved. The municipal justice quarters also would be moved there. It has nearly 41,000 square feet of floor space on two floors.

The remaining schools Lincoln and Washington, are rated excellent in most service systems and are adequate for education purposes. The report suggests construction of an elementary school capable of handling 200-250 students in the northern part of the city to replace the McKinley School.

All remaining city owned or public service buildings are listed as adequate for projected needs in the next 20 years except the library which is already operating at capacity. The report suggests it be remodeled to increase the floor space by 40 percent.

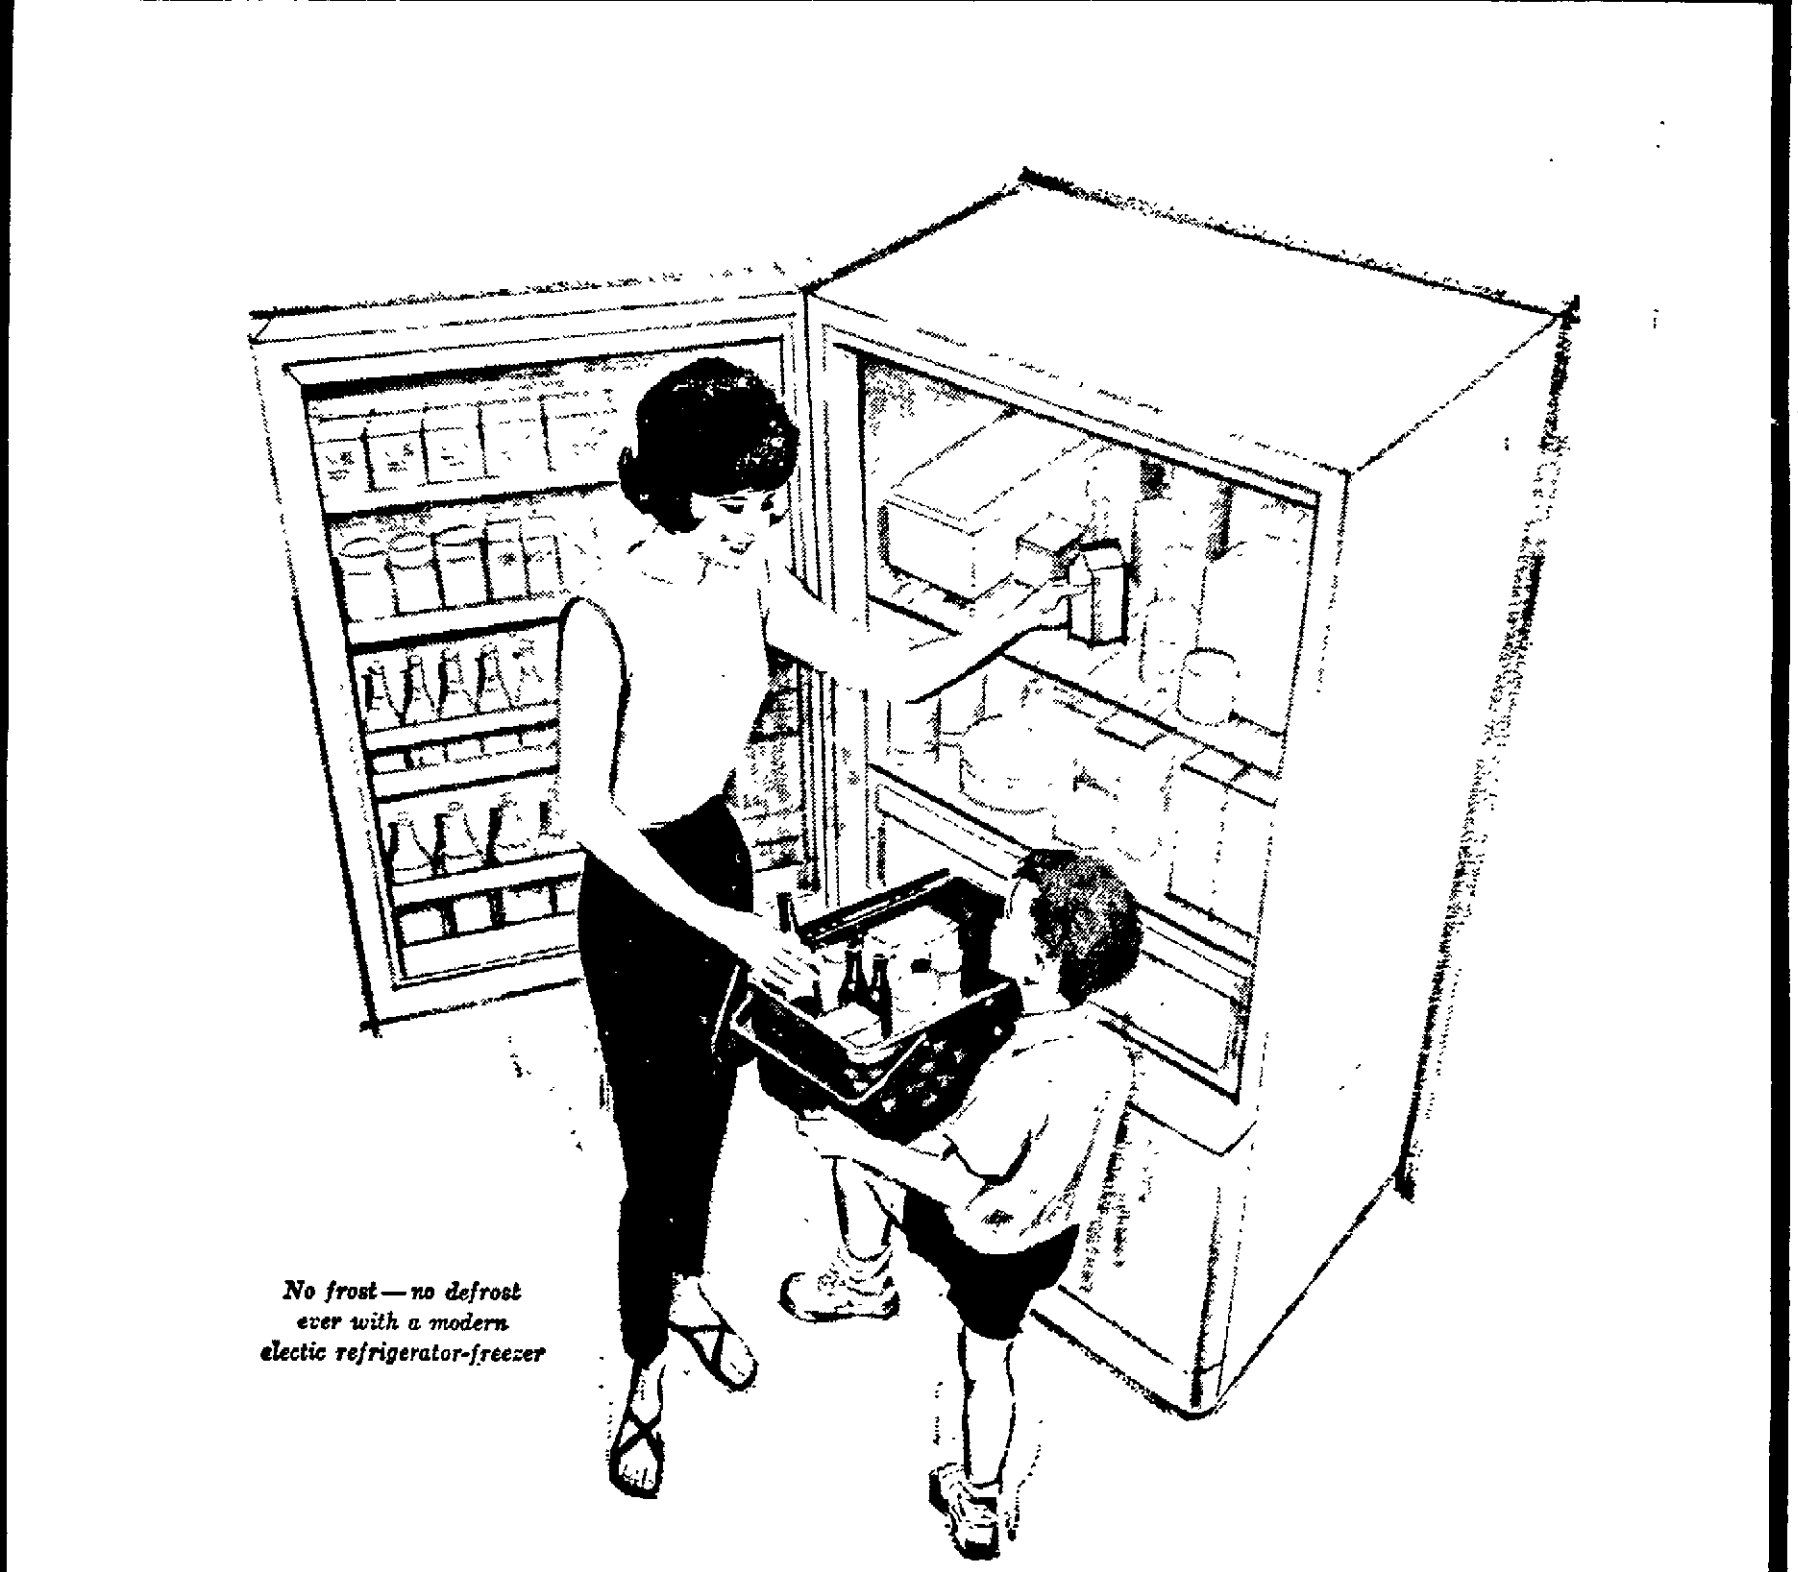

In Good Condition

The two hospitals, Villa St. Vincent rest home, museum, city garage, post office and utilities building are all listed as being in good condition and being adequate to meet future needs.

Of the total 1,681 dwellings in the city in 1960, 1,372 or 81.6 per cent were classified by the census bureau as in sound condition. The bureau listed only 3.5 per cent as dilapidated and 251 or 14.9 per cent as deteriorating.

The report says the only area with any amount of deterioration is north of the Wolf River in the fifth and second wards, between the Green Bay and Western tracks.

Business establishments are in generally good condition. Most are older structures, but have been maintained by the proprietors.

Scranton on the Ultra Right

Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania, an also ran at last summer's Republican national convention, has recently said that "there is a radical fringe which should never find a spiritual home in either of America's two great political parties and the Republican party ought to stop the hopeless task of trying to accommodate them."

Quite obviously the governor was not talking about the far-left or Communist lunatic fringe which has seldom if ever even spoken to members of the GOP much less sought to infiltrate it. It is the bothersome radical right which Governor Scranton would like to do without and he has our sympathy. The eastern liberal wing of the Republican party is sore put to deal with conservatives who sometimes even splinter off into their own groups on election day and deny the Republicans their fair share of the electorate.

Certainly it is hard to see how some of the ultra right can belong to either major political party with any consistency or honor. Those who store arms in the cellar to deal with the Red Chinese, want to repeal the income tax and string up Earl Warren or any convenient Negro or beatnik, are certainly unassimilable much like the Communists at the other end of the spectrum or any of those who favors absolute government control in any realm and who would rather wipe out than shape up.

But exactly how far along this track would the Pennsylvania governor go? Does he mean conservatives of the Billy Hargis ilk or those of Barry Goldwater? Would he read out of the party William Buckley who is currently carrying on a dispute with Governor Scranton about evidence in the conviction of a man for murder? And if so, what exactly was the motivation?

Riding every dissenter out of both parties may sound like the ideal solution to controversy and embarrassing questions. But one of these days that "mainstream of political thought" may center around the outs who could conceivably outnumber the ins.

'Water, Water Everywhere...'

A lot of ordinary people would agree with Robert Manry, who sailed alone across the Atlantic ocean in a 13½ foot sailboat, that "I guess I would have to lie on a psychoanalyst's couch to answer" why he did it. And yet, crazy and reckless as the adventure was, there is something heartwarming about a man in the 20th Century pitting himself against immeasurable odds that would have frightened his ancestors and then coming out the winner.

Manry's feat is unique; this is the smallest ship ever to cross the Atlantic from west to east. It took Manry 78 days from Massachusetts to Falmouth, six times he was washed overboard but managed to grab rigging and save himself. Oddly enough it was his lack of a modern self-steering device that saved him in these episodes for with one his ship might have sailed on without him. Other times he tied himself to the little craft to avoid being washed away by waves sometimes 20 feet high. Lack of sleep caused hallucinations. But his emergency radio transmitter, although never used, gave him a feeling of security.

Most of us would need something considerably more to feel secure all alone in the middle of the vast and rough Atlantic in a boat smaller than a compact car. Even Columbus had a crew and two other ships sailing nearby.

New Style in Judicial Wigs

The House of Lords and the Queen's Counsel have agreed to compromise with tradition and Britain's bigwig barristers will not diminish themselves by being smaller on their lesser appearances.

The full-bottomed wigs will be de rigueur only on those full-dress occasions when the Lords of Appeal in Ordinary hand down their decisions in the House of Lords. In other professional appearances the Queen's Counsel may wear the short wig, which ends above the ears and looks more like a modern hairdo than one of the full-bottomed "roller" affairs, reminiscent of an oversized old-fashioned washboard where hirsute undulations chase each other beyond the shoulders and halfway down the chest.

The Lords of Appeal are not only an august group, but also a smart one. Of all the dignified high court judges in England they are the only ones who refuse to wear wigs or robes. At times some of these gentlemen must have been hard put to retain their solemnity in the presence of a bewigged Queen's Counsel. The latter have been unhappy for years over the full-bottomed wigs.

The things are made of horsehair and promote hotheadedness. They scratch and tickle and obscure hearing. At the same time, they probably help weed out the men from the boys, for only the most distinguished barristers can rate as Queen's Counsel, and if they get the scratchy wigs they also handle the biggest cases for the highest fees.

Wigs, oversized and now compact, come under the heading of unwritten law in Britain. Judges and barristers wear them because it's the thing to do — the custom of three centuries or so. An unbewigged bald head could shock the whole judiciary.

Wigs (short for "periwig") and derived from the French "perruque") can ignore tradition and even recorded history. They are much older than either. They adorned, disguised and symbolized grandeur before the Trojan War. Some of Cyrus' little band may have worn them when they followed his violet and white colors out of little Anshan in B.C. 550 to conquer Persia, Media, Babylon and Lydia.

They adorn Egyptian mummies. Men and women wore them in ancient Greece. Julius Caesar missed or spurned them, but they were used in the early days of the empire. Hannibal is supposed to have worn them when he wanted a disguise.

The notorious Valeria Messalina, mother of Nero's wife, liked to wear yellow wigs on some of her scarlet sarafis, and the Roman ladies favored the golden hair imported from Germany.

Faustina, wife of Marcus Aurelius, one of the best-dressed, had several hundred wigs. Some of the ancient sculptured busts had their own assorted wigs, changed at need to keep in fashion.

In France, the prematurely bald Louis XIII copied the Abbe de la Riviere in 1624 with a periwig resembling long fair hair. His court followed suit.

Wigs got to be more flamboyant in France and England and spread in more subdued form to America. During the long reign of George III the public lost interest and left the adornment to doctors, soldiers and clergymen, and they in turn gave up the custom over a long period. Except for English barristers and judges, who cling to it until the present, the bishops were slowest to surrender.

After World War II the artificial hair became a therapeutic issue in Britain and toupees, etc., were prescribed on occasion under the socialized medicine program.

Television in the United States is credited by Encyclopedia Britannica for the great revival in wigs as personal adornment. Bald pates and cleopuses convinced many actors of the need for youthfulness and "realism." The modern well-tressed woman has completed the cycle.

Taylor Writes

Czechs Are Crushed People, Their Lives One of Utter Hopelessness

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — At the important Czech city of Bratislava, and only there, the Czechoslovakian, Hungarian and Austrian borders all meet. I traveled along the flanks of this triangle for hundreds of miles, by day and sometimes at night, and then on the frontier facing East Germany.

Taylor

This is the line of barbed wire, charged with a death-dose of electricity, and of police dogs, Communist sentries, watch towers, Tommy guns and mine fields that holds the Czechs inside their country.

The tall wooden posts, duplicated three tiers deep, have a thick mattress of wire interwoven like a basket between each row. If you climb one barrier you flounder in the barbed wire mesh that guards the next one to come.

But first you strike the false frontier. This is the same, except that once you cross it you are still on this country's soil. It is set inland a mile to fool you.

It's Mostly A Bore

To the average Czech, however, all this is more of a bore than a problem. Large numbers take nearly unbelievable risks to leave, but by and large the ordinary Czech wants to remain in his homeland.

These are the meek of the earth who want little more than to be left alone, have their chance in life, for themselves, their family and children, and pray freely to God for guidance and salvation.

Thus if you think of them as crushed people, you are right, for these are the hopes of which they are deprived. A terrible feeling of hopelessness, not a fear of jail, is the central factor in their lives.

Few of these 14 million people — far fewer than we may suppose — lie listening at night for the knock. Few defy authority. There are no concentration camps here. But the Iron Curtain is both an electrified fence and a frame of mind. And it is this pressure from the Red central frame of mind that you find reflected by the ineffable and penetrating sadness in so many Czech eyes.

The art of survival is a Czech art form. The key to this, as a Czech machinist remarked to me, is to "do nothing that calls you to the notice of the government and the Party — nothing, surely nothing."

This is not easy, however, for every block has a Communist Party block-watcher. He earns his standing at headquarters by regular reports. These may seem meaningless, but your job may depend on them. So can your vacation, your wife's ability to hire a furnace man, your child's allotment of books at school. Once you are "noticed," even by obtaining a driver's license, a process can start the end of which nobody can foresee.

For, like Red governments everywhere, the government here lays its plans on the basis of everyone being untrustworthy. Moreover, it is commonly agreed that the Prague commissars never act in the open if they can dispose of resistance in an underhanded way.

My friend Josef X has resisted nothing. But his brother did "resist" by breaking out to Munich. Josef was a lawyer, an honor graduate of Prague's famous Charles University. His license to practice was taken from him the next morning. For five years the only job the Central Labor Office has assigned him is as a window washer. Appeal? Who to? "If I call more notice to myself," he told me, "it may be even worse."

YOUTHS ARE CYNICAL

The break-away is among the youth. The youth plans start to sizzle and then they fizzle. University professors and other intellectuals here confirm that, beyond hard-core cadres, the young Czech couldn't care less about the ideological outpourings and is utterly cynical (and sullen) about the government as a whole and the entire Party from top to bottom. Apparently youth is saying what McAdulife said at Bastogne: "Nuts!"

As a tangent to this, you see for the first time wandering, night-owl groups of "Teddy Boys" with their long hair and skin-tight pants who annoy the public now nearly as much as they annoy the police.

Then there is the attitude — and problem — of the priests, plus the uproar here about our country, which is the subject of my next article.

Wisconsin Report

Constructive Theme Noted in Report From Management Group

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Perhaps the most encouraging thing about the first report of the Wisconsin Committee on Improved Expenditure Management, one of the advisory task force groups established by the Knowles administration, is the friendly and constructive theme that ran through it.

Wyngaard

The private corporation leaders and technicians who have worked for the last six months in an intensive scrutiny of state government operations from the inside are obviously determined to avoid the blanket criticism and condemnation that comes so easily to the campaigning politicians when they are talking about taxes, governmental costs, and improvements in the performance of public officials and employees.

W. R. Kellett, the retired Neenah industrialist who served as a kind of captain of the study team, put it gracefully when he explained that private business managers have learned under the pressure of economic competition to improve their management and production techniques. He didn't quite say it, but the idea was there. There is no similar competitive pressure upon the public service manager, and thus an occasional and expert prod may be both welcome and profitable.

TRUE EFFICIENCY

Often when there are public discussions about "economy and efficiency" in government there is invoked the idea of the civil service waste, and indolence, and sloppiness. The truth is, of course, that many persons working close to government find enough examples of such weaknesses to make them somewhat skeptical. But the realist knows that there are also defaults in private employment.

The Kellett task force carefully avoids any such imputations. It is concerned not with the loyalty or vigor of public employees and their officers, but the procedures and the methods and the rules which may be changed. "These dedicated people," the first chapter of the group's findings relates, "do their work well, want to do it better. That perhaps is the major finding of this study and is certainly the major hope for the successful implementation."

Then there is a good deal of thoughtful reporting on mechanics of governmental operations and the adaptation of the best and newest techniques of private business management to the affairs of the state. But there is also, more significantly, a series of proposals in the making for substantive and policy changes. Here the idea of "efficiency" is used in its broadest context. Why should the state permit discounts for inheritance tax payments, for example, when it has long ago abandoned discounts for other taxes?

TAX REVISION

The state treasury net gain from an abandonment of the discount law will be substantial. Actually such a statutory change would have the effect of a tax increase of five per cent, as estate lawyers will promptly apprehend. Yet these and other suggestions, whatever their ultimate fate, probably would not have been put forward except for such reflective examination by outsiders. Many of such policy changes, moreover, may run into stiff resistance. Some of them will be defeated, since most laws were put on the books because someone wanted them there and had enough power to get them there.

Some persons may wonder whether there is a moral for the times in the fact that the efficiency task force chose to file its first report on the Department of Taxation, the vital agency without which none of the others could live. More likely, however, the department headed the list because it has a new commissioner in James R. Morgan, who is the more likely to respond to constructive proposals because he has not yet acquired enough seniority to be set in his ways.

Strictly Personal

What World Really Needs Is an Umpire

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My eye was caught briefly by an item on the sports page, reporting that the manager of the Minnesota Twins had threatened assault on an American League umpire for what the manager had fancied was a "bad call."

Harris

The item reminded me of a story told by Prof. Hadley Cantril, the social psychologist, in explaining the different ways we can approach what is "right" and what is "wrong" in such matters.

Three umpires were discussing the problems of their occupation. One said: "Some are balls, and some are strikes, and I call them as they are." The second said: "Some are balls, and some are strikes, and I call them as I see them."

But the third umpire said: "I see them coming across, and some are balls and some are strikes, but they're nothing until I call them!"

The third umpire was the only realistic one of the three. What is called a "strike" or a "ball" in baseball depends not on the absolute "truth" of each pitch, but on the decision of the umpire. In a real sense each pitch is "nothing" until the umpire calls it.

Obviously, of course, if his decisions are too often at variance with the judgment of the players and the spectators, he will not remain an umpire very long — but, except for such rare cases, he "makes" balls and strikes out of pitches.

The attitude of the third umpire has an importance far beyond that of baseball or any other sport. It lies in his candid recognition that objective "truth," or perfect "rightness" is impossible to achieve in many human situations.

This is the whole idea behind the establishment of an umpire or a referee or a judge. Within the rules of the game — whether the "game" is baseball or a lawsuit — the umpire or referee or judge makes the decision that both sides are bound to respect, even though one side or the other may disagree with an individual decision.

It would be impossible to run a community of any kind without giving someone the power to exercise this function. Not a town, or state, or nation, could run for one day unless we agreed to accept such decisions, even when they go against us.

And this is the crux of mankind's failure in international relations. We have not, and have never had, such an umpire. We believe implicitly in the "rightness" of whatever we do — and so does every other nation — and do not feel bound by whatever decision some "world court" might make. All conferences will fail all attempts at disarmament will fail all summit meetings will fail — so long as each nation is calling its own balls and strikes.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

Maybe the cause of peace would be helped if Russia's President Mikoyan and party leader Brezhnev could meet with their American counterparts—LBJ and Perle Mesta.

It would be easy to settle that scrap between the Greek king and Premier Papandreu if the king would just agree that Papa knows best.

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Aug. 19, 1940.

All of Britain became a defense area as the nation "dug in" to defend its soil against Nazi invasion. Regional commissioners representing civil and military authorities were in direct control of England, Wales and Scotland. The United States and Canada were preparing to set up a joint board of defense as a precaution.

For the fifth consecutive summer the McKenzie-Kamps Lander Theaters Inc. presented an annual production. Performers in the Appleton neighborhood project included James McKenzie, William Kamps, Paul Kamps, Earl Christopher, and John McKenzie. Tubbs Kamps' ragtime band provided music for the audience of more than 170 persons who assembled at the two shows given in St. Joseph Hall. The two plays, both original, were

"The Man They Couldn't Kill," billed as the story of Nazi America in 1930, and the comedy skit "The Idioms of the King."

Army Pride in Flag Lost on News Pages

From Sampson (N.J.) Messenger Gazette

We wonder how many people noticed a recent AP dispatch from Berlin, reporting that a howling mob of some 300 Communists had invaded the U.S. military mission in Potsdam, East Germany, smashing its furnishings and desecrating the American flag. In many instances, we fear, this bit of news was crowded to remote pages or out of the papers altogether by the "big" events of astronauts walking in space and politicians talking in and out of it.

Yet Americans have as much reason for pride in the action of our men in that military mission as for the feats of our astronauts in their state flight. For there, surrounded still by the antagonistic society from which the rock-throwing, flag-desecrating hoodlums had been recruited, five Americans representing pretty much a cross-section of our armed services raised the Stars and Stripes on a newly acquired pole, at 120 a.m. in a floodlighted court yard to the accompaniment of a tape recording of the "Stars Spangled Banner" well amplified by two outdoor loudspeakers.

Tax Cut Results in Record Cash Totals

White House Says Figures for July Show a 'Healthy Gain'

By PHILIP J. KEUPER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A flow of record cash register receipts from retailers across the country formed a reassuring report on card during the week on a government's recent round of disastrous crop failure in the excise tax cuts.

Retail sales in July, first month following the lopping off of $1.75 billion in taxes on goods and services, rose by nearly half a billion dollars from June.

The Commerce Department measured the July figures at a record, seasonally adjusted total of $23.75 billion. The previous record was in May when sales hit $23.3 billion.

Sales Show Rise
Sales showed an over-all rise of 8 per cent over the year before. Automobile sales were up 12 per cent over July 1964. White House, commenting on the figures, said they represented a "healthy gain."

But Commerce Secretary John T. Connor cast doubt on whether the administration would follow its successful tax cuts with another trimming of income taxes next year.

Spending to pay for the war in Viet Nam, said Connor, "May compel us to put off some things we might have hoped for otherwise" — like another tax cut next year.

Income Tax Cut
Indications were that the next income tax cut would have been aimed at increasing the spending power of lower-income families.

But many economists fear that a combination of rising military spending and more civilian spending with another tax cut would overheat the economy and take it into inflation.

With the nation's record economic expansion in its 53rd month, American farms produced an added picture of abundance. Farmers, said the Agriculture Department, will reap a record harvest this year — despite one of the smallest acreages planted in modern times and government pressures to hold down supplies of surplus commodities.

Record Output
The prospective harvest, 4 per cent above the previous record in 1963, would bring record outputs of corn and livestock feed over made the difference. The 1966 model production comes amid peak demand.

By contrast, the Soviet Union found itself buying about $450 million worth of Canadian grain in the first half of 1965 than in any entire year prior to 1949.

Class Comes to Order For Double-Talk Study

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The class in double-talk will please come to order.

You will remember, students, that double-talk is the art of saying just the opposite of what you mean. It is one of the most necessary skills in a complex civilization.

It is so important that the first thing a wise child learns to do after he learns to talk is to double talk.

Here are a few common examples of double-talk — with their literal translations.
"Of course this is only a suggestion." But if you know what's good for you, you'll do what I say.

"That certainly was an enlightening sermon, pastor." If I cash, she's crazy.

Temporary Tax
"Of course this is only a temporary tax." You'll only have to pay it during your lifetime.

"Every man has a right to his opinion." So, if you'll please shut up, I'll tell you mine.

"I'm not really hungry, dear." I wonder if the cheap skate will faint if I order a big steak.

"I sure did enjoy reading your last book." Well, at least I hope it's your last one.

"The starting salary is small, but the opportunity is unlimited." If the job really required any brains, we'd have to pay more.

"We call this our junior bedroom apartment." It has two rooms and two closets.

See, boys, if there is a place to accept this 25-year position from you? Why didn't the old carpenter

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes...Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special) — The asthmatic formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for the relief of asthma attacks is now available without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is safe for all ages. It is the only safe asthma relief prescribed on a safe when used as directed that now it can be sold wheat because of a reportedly poor spring wheat crop. The sale was Canada's biggest single transaction since it sold $500 million worth of wheat and flour to the Soviet Union in 1963. That purchase followed a disastrous crop failure in the Soviet Union.

Building Industry
The nation's building industry got encouraging news from the President's signing of the 1965 Housing Act. Among the features a federal rent subsidy providing government payment of 75 per cent of the rent of qualifying low-income families.

The subsidies are expected to spark construction or extensive rehabilitation of 375,000 housing units over four years. This may bring a major boost to home building, which has lagged for more than a year.

Steel Construction
Steel construction rose to its highest level in five weeks with the industry still facing a Sept. 1 deadline for completing a contract with the United Steelworkers of America. The nation's mills poured 2.6 million tons of steel during the week, up 14 per cent over the previous week.

Steel companies say they are working hard to meet orders for August delivery, but expect a sharp drop in September business. Steel users have been stockpiling steel for months against the possibility of a strike and the buildup has kept steel mills humming at a record rate.

Expect Order Drop
Observers expect a sharp drop in orders if a contract is negotiated by the deadline.

Steel inventories and higher prices helped boost the value of goods held in stock by retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers during June, said the government Business Inventories expanded by a seasonally adjusted total of $570 million. This increase of $570 million. This increase of $570 million. This increase of $570 million.

Automakers estimated production during the week at 87,523 cars, a drop of 18 per cent from 106,868 cars the previous week. The industry said shut-downs for new model changeovers made the difference.

The 1966 model production and more new cars were registered in the first half of 1965 than in any entire year prior to 1949.

Methods Vary

Johnson, Ike Sharing Charm Over Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has a charmed life with Congress, a lot better than President Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy ever had.

In one way the Johnson-Eisenhower methods are the same: almost totally avoid personal attacks on the men of either party in the Capitol, although Johnson is sometimes a little more snappish.

The virtue in this technique is that it denies anyone an excuse for biting back. If he wants to criticize, he has to look for a reason. It served Eisenhower well.

After eight years in the White House he wound up the most unmolested president of the century. But there the Eisenhower-Johnson resemblance ends.

War Hero
War hero Eisenhower came to office with such universal good will that jabbing at him would be like trying to demolish a national monument. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy tried to get rough on Johnson running the Senate.

But, while Johnson had 24 years in Congress before becoming president, Eisenhower had none. He had to depend on his prestige and the advice of his aides in dealing with House and Senate.

He wasn't in the same class with Johnson in getting Congress to do what he wanted. But, then, he never worked at it as hard as Johnson. In his first two years Eisenhower's own Republicans controlled both houses.

Little Help
Even so, he had trouble getting action from the Republicans. In Eisenhower's last six years Congress was in control of the Democrats and he got a great deal of help from them, with Johnson running the Senate.

Besides his expertise in understanding Congress, Johnson spaced out pretty well and always the enormous advantage, starting out, of dealing with a House and Senate where his Democrats so outnumber the Republicans that the latter are a feeble minority.

Nevertheless, Johnson has been attacking the Kennedy administration's "indecision" and office disaster for himself backing the invasion of Cuba. And Kennedy, although Kennedy inherited like Eisenhower before him, the Viet Nam problem, it was wasn't a match for Johnson in not yet critical when he took getting action from Congress.

The result is that the Republicans have been so badly immobilized that their House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, seemed hard pressed to find an issue to use against Johnson.

Need Issues
He'll need some kind of issue if the Republicans hope to capture seats in the House in the 1966 election Ford seems to think he can make an issue of the Johnson's handling of the Viet name war.

But former Vice President Richard M. Nixon believes that what may hurt Johnson in the 1966 presidential race is what he does at home. He said last week Johnson will be defeated "by what happens domestically and not what happens in Viet Nam."

This would seem to indicate the Republicans aren't quite sure where Johnson is vulnerable. All four presidents in the past 20 years inherited a huge problem the moment they took office, starting with Truman.

Problems Multiplied
In his case, the problems multiplied. First, he had to end a world war and reconvert the country to peace. There were food shortages, strikes, bitter Republican attacks within less than a year after he became president, the foreign aid program to think up and start, the Berlin blockade, the loss of most of China to the Communists, the Korean war, McCarthyism, and charges of corruption and Communists in government.

After a brief honeymoon, the Republicans never got off his back. Eisenhower inherited the Korean war, he had to cope with McCarthy, he had the Suez crisis, and other problems, but fortunately for him they were spaced out pretty well and always the Democrats seemed a little in awe of him.

But, where Eisenhower backs up Johnson on Viet Nam, within less than nine months after Kennedy took office Eisenhower has been attacking the Kennedy ad-worried about age?

here's truth about hormones for face, neck and hands

NEW YORK (Special) — Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 25 look 19 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they were 20 again?

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts. 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as early as age 20, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin. 2. A estrogenic hormone can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormone.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results. Twenty-five women applied hormone to one side of the face and neck and to the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormone was applied the same way.

These are the reports in simple words. Skin lines or dry-skin wrinkles quickly diminished or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck. Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness and take on a revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no comparable changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know. The strength of the hormone preparation must appear on the label. The recommended monthly allowance for the skin is 25,000 International Units. The face should be as rich as possible in penetrating sesame oil and moisturizing lanolin and when applied in your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a trustworthy 56-year-old laboratory.

It is inexpensive to use. A 700-day supply costs only $4.95. Look younger quickly, see these dry-skin wrinkles smooth out, starting today! You may obtain Hormonex Beauty Serum at:

Saturday. However the power problem prevented this.

Their private satellite now has lost all its power and is several hundred miles away from Gemini 5.

Won't Use Thrusters

Cooper and Conrad were told not to use their forward firing thrusters for the phantom exercise because of the danger of reversing the position of liquid and gaseous hydrogen in a fuel tank in the worrisome power system.

The maneuvering will provide a good test of the system because it will require maximum power of about 40 amps. This is about 10 amps greater than used thus far in the Gemini mission.

A shift in plans helped the astronauts doze off.

Conrad, a Navy lieutenant commander jokingly remarked at one point that he'd like to sleep more, but you guys keep giving us something to do.

Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant colonel elaborated. The flight hasn't been arranged where one guy can sleep. It's where both of us have been having to do some of the tests.

Experiment Scrapped

Later the mission control center scrapped one of the scheduled experiments -- in 72 executive board to establish an orderly strike and picketing process," the union said. "After gaining some rest, it is anticipated that meetings will continue to permit negotiations.

The time and day of the renewed bargaining is subject to mutual agreement of American Motors Corp. and the union."

Expected Repercussions

A walkout was expected to tie up production of 1966 Rambler automobiles and result in lay offs in other American Motors plants in Milwaukee, the manager of the 5,500-employee American Motors body plant William F. Poupard, said the facility would be shut down within an hour if a strike developed.

United Auto Workers Local 72 had already sent picketing instructions to its members.

A union official, reporting late Sunday night that negotiations would continue right up until the deadline declined comment on any progress toward a settlement, but said, "Naturally we are always optimistic."

A company spokesman said only that "obviously if they are meeting, they should be making some progress."

The dispute centered on a mountainous backlog of grievances filed by Local 72. The local's president, Richard C. Thiel, said most of them involved production standards.

Others were believed to involve disciplining of union stewards.

Disciplining of Stewards

The two assembly plants here were hit by a pair of 24-hour wildcat walkouts in June. Both stemmed from an argument over whether a woman worker on the assembly line was able to insert screws in headlights at an adequate pace.

This was reported to be one of as many as 300 grievances under debate. A company spokesman said last week more than 100 union grievances were on file and about 20 had gone through all stages of discussion provided under the current contract without a settlement.

The Achilles heel in the Communist idea of the war of national liberation may be the problem of keeping turbulence at a high level.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff and member of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs of Staff, says the Viet Cong has had to bring in more and more people from North Viet Nam to try to keep turbulence growing.

There is nothing in the general's statement, the speech by Vance or the opinions of others equally high to support any belief that victory may come tomorrow, next month or next year.

Army's 1st Division made its biggest kill so far in the Viet Nam war — 25 Viet Cong guerrillas in a search and destroy operation last Thursday and Friday, a U.S. spokesman announced.

"Big Red One"

The spokesman said the 18th Battalion of the "Big Red One" also wounded three Viet Cong and captured seven in the operation northwest of Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon. U.S. casualties were described as light.

A U.S. Marine patrol wiped out a three-man Viet Cong mortar team Sunday just as it was getting ready to launch an attack, a spokesman announced. He said the leathernecks used an M79 grenade launcher in the operation 4 miles south of the Da Nang air base, 380 miles north of Saigon.

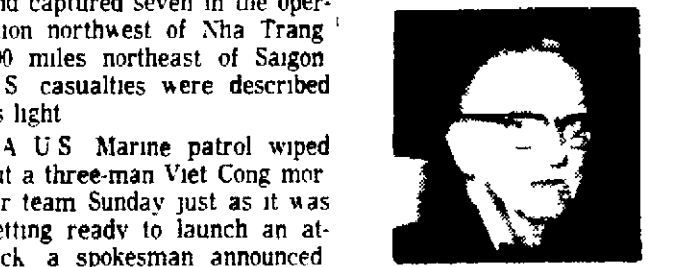

U.S. spokesmen gave these other operation reports:

Two government boats seized a motorized sampan loaded with mortar rounds 80 miles southwest of Saigon. The sampans opened fire, the government boats returned it and eight Viet Cong were killed.

Nine Viet Cong were killed and four captured in a Vietnamese operation 80 miles southwest of Saigon in Vinh Long Province.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew 214 combat sorties in South Viet Nam during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. Pilots reported damaging or destroying 400 buildings.

Forty-eight U.S. Army helicopters killed an estimated 38 Viet Cong 40 miles southwest of Saigon. The choppers were lifting Vietnamese troops into a landing zone when they began taking fire from guerrillas.

Car Hits Tree At Tigerton; Motorist Dies

Duane Neuman, 20, Rural Wittenberg, Is Crash Victim

A young rural Wittenberg man involved in a smashup Sunday night at Tigerton was one of seven traffic victims for the weekend as the death pace eased in the late hours after an early spurt of accidents.

The two deaths reported Sunday raised the state's year-long toll to 602 compared with 693 a year ago.

Five of the weekend victims died in accidents involving only one car. Four of the autos hit trees and the other a bridge.

Duane Neuman, 20, route 1, Wittenberg, was dead on arrival at Clintonville Community Hospital Sunday night of severe head injuries he suffered when his car hit a tree at 10.05 p.m.

Hit a Tree

State Police said Neuman's southbound car left Shawano County Trunk J on a curve in the village of Tigerton. The vehicle snapped off a utility pole and slammed headon against a tree.

Neuman was pinned in the wreckage. Volunteers directed by Village Marshal Deb Griepentrog managed to free Neuman after "some difficulty," state police said. The car was demolished.

He died enroute to the hospital.

Neuman had traveled approximately two blocks in the 25 mile per hour speed zone after dropping his girl friend off at her home when the crash occurred, state police said.

Funeral Arrangement

Funeral arrangements are in complete at the Ullmark Funeral Home, Tigerton. Neuman, a Wittenberg Telephone Co. employee, is survived by his parents, one brother and five sisters.

John Carney, 24, Chicago, died Sunday night when his car struck a tree along a Racine County road one mile east of Burlington.

Paul Stensen, 22, of rural Augusta in Eau Claire County, was killed Saturday in a rural two-car crash near Augusta. Stensen, who worked in Milwaukee, was visiting his parents for the weekend.

Car-Truck Crash

The collision of a car and a pickup truck on Highway 27 north of Westby in Vernon County Saturday resulted in the death of the driver of the auto, Donald Ames, 39, Viroqua.

Bernard Miller, 27, of rural Waukesha, was killed when his car hit a tree near Waukesha early Saturday.

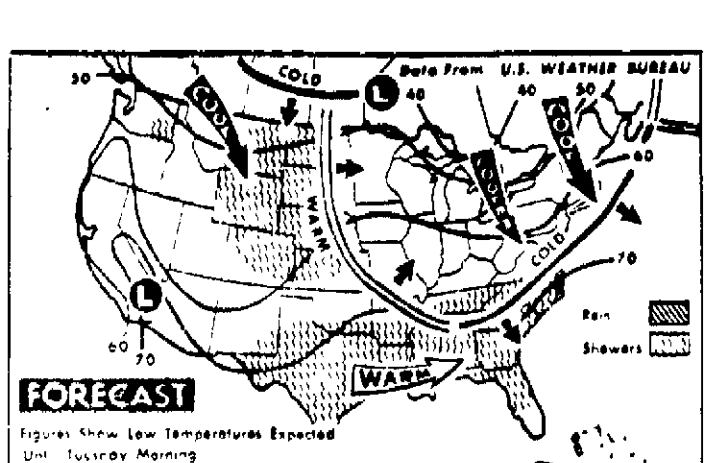

Jerome Kramer, 24, Crandon, died Saturday of injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding struck a cluster of trees near Crandon.

Ralph Siedel, 20, Bloomer, was injured fatally Saturday when his car crashed into a bridge along a Chippewa County road.

Orchestra at Artistic Best to Close Festival

Peninsula Events End

BY JACK RUDOLPH

Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — The 13th annual Peninsula Music Festival closed here over the weekend in orchestral glory. Dr. Thor Johnson's youthful and richly talented festival orchestra, buttressed by a firm core of veterans to provide steadiness and confidence, coalesced into a disciplined, alert and highly sensitive ensemble to give two of the finest performances in Festival history.

The programs were enhanced by the presence of pianist Gyorgy Sandor, violinist Charles Treger and bass-baritone Katsuuni Niwa. All performed with the artistry of first rank professionals, but in the final analysis the real star of the weekend was the orchestra.

'Technical Difficulty'

The program was one of remarkable substance, technical difficulty and diversity of styles, consisting, surprisingly enough, of avant garde music spanning more than two centuries. From the threshold classicism of C. P. E. Bach to the 12-tone serialism of Arnold Schoenberg, each was riding struck a cluster of work was, in its own day, a stride toward farther musical horizons.

"Dichotomy" was the conversational piece of the evening, and much of the discussion was violent. Nonetheless, it added a spice and vigor to the overall effect that would otherwise have been missing.

If the Riegger works shocked its listeners, Charles Treger and Katsuuni Niwa charmed them. Niwa, the young Japanese bass-baritone, made a highly favorable impression while Treger brought the evening to a lyrical conclusion.

'Rich, Ringing Voice'

The vocalist chose an uncompromising work in "Kindertotenlieder" but met its subtle challenges with a rich, ringing voice. He sang with great emotion but a restricted tonal palette. Each song was beautifully sung but the complete performance had an overall sameness that was unfortunate.

Treger, in his second appearance of the week, presented a restrained reading of the Tchaikovsky concerto. He resisted numerous temptations inherent in the vivid work playing with a controlled and polished tone and technique. He had a few flashes of shaky intonation but never lost command.

'Exciting Climax'

Gyorgy Sandor brought the Sunday afternoon to an exciting climax with a massive and powerful performance of Bela Bartok's Third Piano Concerto. The surging power of his playing was matched note for note by the ensemble.

Sandor, in his festival debut, approached the concerto with the crisp authority of long and intimate familiarity. Throughout he used a hard, unyielding, at times almost angry, tone that generated sweeping momentum and built to a tension-packed conclusion.

Pick Fox Cities Sites For Chemistry Teacher In-Service Courses

MADISON — Secondary school teachers of chemistry who need to up-date knowledge in their fields and improve teaching techniques now may take special courses from the University of Wisconsin Extension.

These in-service courses, which are presented in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, have three specific objectives: to give the teachers the latest information about and most modern approaches to their subject matter; to strengthen the teacher's skills and to help the teacher pass this up to date knowledge on to his students.

Classes will be held at five "learning site" secondary schools in Kaukauna, Kimberly, Appleton, Neenah, and Oshkosh. Each of these areas will house two sessions for classes approximately three hours long.

Courses will be held at the different high schools in order to include benefits beyond the subject matter by giving teachers experience in new surroundings. Participants will receive a certificate at the end of the sessions.

Complete information and application forms may be obtained by writing to Paul Knipping, Area Administrator, the University of Wisconsin Extension, 432 N. Lake St. Madison. Deadline for requests is Aug. 31.

Plans Underway For Raising of Sunken Freighter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An Illinois manufacturer planned to start operations to try to raise the freighter "Prins Willem V" from the bottom of Lake Michigan today.

Charles K. Huthsing, Northbrook, Ill., who bought the sunken Dutch ship at an auction for $85,000, said heavier cargo items would be removed first. He said he hoped to raise the ship within the next two weeks, but declined to reveal specific methods.

"We'll be out there 24 hours a day," Huthsing said. "We're only coming in if the weather gets bad."

The Prins Willem V sank three miles off Milwaukee in about 90 feet of water after a collision 11 years ago with an oil barge. All previous efforts to raise it have failed.
